Big Steel Hikes USW Wages 8½ Cents Hour

$3.50 To $4 Ton Price Boosts Indicated

PITTSBURGH, June 12 (AP)—Pacesetting U. S. Steel Corp. gave its 170,000 CIO United Steelworker employes an 8½ cent-an-hour wage hike today and within a matter of hours four other big steel companies did the same.

The agreements were achieved apparently with the greatest of ease. The pay raise goes into effect immediatly.

Steelworkers had been averaging $2.06 to $2.16 an hour.

The ink was hardly dry on the Big Steel pact before Bethlehem Steel Corp. signed an identical contract covering about 80,000 workers. Then came Republic Steel which has about 45,000 USW members, Youngstown Sheet & Steel which employs about 20,000 and Jones & Laughlin which has about 40,000 USW members.

Price Hikes Indicated

The amicable agreements brought speculation that the steel companies, no longer bothered by government controls, will increase steel prices in the neighborhood of $3.50 to $4.00 a ton.

It is possible that prices of materials which use steel will increase.

That would mean that consumers, ultimately, might pay more money for hundreds of products ranging from pins to refrigerators.

The present price of steel is about $115 a ton.

The steel union won one of its long-cherished objectives in the agreement which covers rates of pay only. Big Steel agreed to wipe out the five-cent hourly wage differential between the higher paid workers in Northern states and those in the South.

Talks Started May 14

Next Jan. 1 the differential will be cut by 2½ cents. On July 1, 1954, the remaining 2½ cents will be eliminated. That difference in pay scales is as old as American industrial history and followed a time-honored tradition that Northern workers should be paid more than Southern workers.

The wage negotiations, just concluded, began May 14 with the union seeking "a general wage increase" for its 170,000 members who work in U. S. Steel plants across the country. The same pay boost eventually is expected to apply to the 600,000 workers employed in all American basic steel plants. USW members previously earned an average $2.06 to $2.16 an hour.

Swarms Of Reds Hit Allied Lines Third Day In Row

SEOUL, Saturday, June 12 (AP)—Chinese Communist waves—heedless of Allied fire that had piled up 1,500 casualties — struck the U. S. 3rd Division on the Central Front today for the third straight day.

A front dispatch said unknown numbers of Chinese swarmed down two valleys east and west of 1,000-foot high Outpost Harry, whose muddy slopes were covered with bodies of Chinese who fell in earlier attacks.

Sniper Ridge Pressure Eased

This latest of a series of Red attacks, designed to gain territory or prestige just before an armistice, came as the Communists relaxed pressure on Sniper Ridge, a few miles to the east. They also had lost heavily before that rocky position near Kumhwa.

At last reports, however, the Communists still clung to three hills in the main Allied line on the Eastern Front despite all efforts of South Korean troops to dislodge them.

The Communists had thrown in 1,000 and 1,500-man attacks earlier in the week against Outpost Harry without success.

Whatever the Communist intentions, a U. S. 3rd Division officer declared "we are ready for anything the Chinese throw at us."

Gen. Taylor's View

Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who visited the 3rd Division sector, thought that in view of the armistice negotiations the Communist command was trying "to re-establish his military reputation and to impress the negotiators with his remaining potential."

The battle for Outpost Harry began Thursday, and was renewed Friday. At a cost of 500 dead and 1,000 wounded, the Eighth Army said the Reds succeeded only in cutting off the outpost temporarily. Reinforcements quickly hurled back the Reds and secured the hill.

Spinella Deported

WASHINGTON, June 12 (INS)—Attorney General Brownell announced today Michael Spinella, New Jersey racketeer friend of one-time vice king Lucky Luciano, has been deported to his native Italy.

Pakistan Wheat Grant Approved By Senate Group

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee voted unanimously today to give one million tons of government-owned wheat to Pakistan and help avert a famine.

Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) said he hopes the Senate will pass the legislation next week and that the House will act swiftly so the first shipments of grain can reach Pakistan in August.

President Eisenhower asked Congress to make the gift in a special message he sent to Capitol Hill Wednesday. The cost of the wheat, plus transportation charges, is estimated at 100 million dollars.

Aiken's committee approved the grant after a brisk, one-day hearing. Secretary of State Dulles and Mutual Security Director Stassen told the committee the wheat would strengthen Pakistan as an anti-Communist ally and at the same time help reduce the big American surplus.

Several amendments were tacked onto the administration's bill to meet objections senators raised regarding distribution of the wheat by the Pakistani government. One would require the government to furnish wheat free to those who are unable to pay for it.

Several senators expressed fear that if Pakistan were allowed to charge cash for the wheat when it was distributed it would breed "hate" and "ill will" for the United States.

Stassen told the senators Pakistan is strongly anti-Communist and the gift of grain "might mean the difference between political and economic stability and progress on the one hand, and acute suffering, riots and recurrent emergencies on the other."

Dulles and Stassen explained that the administration's plan was to let Pakistan sell the wheat to those who could afford to pay for it, putting the money into a special account which could be drawn on only with U. S. approval.

They said it was proposed to use the money for irrigation and other agricultural projects, and to help maintain Pakistan's military forces.

Vincent Balks At Ranch Query

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—A Senate inquiry committee disclosed today that Craig. S. Vincent, 46-year-old former government employe, refused to say whether his ranch in New Mexico is used as a Communist indoctrination center.

Witnesses before a Senate internal security subcommittee have testified that the 160-acre ranch, about 90 miles from the Los Alamos Atomic Weapons Laboratory, was a hot-bed of Communists.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said Vincent was questioned at a closed-door session in Los Angeles on May 28. The testimony, taken by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) was made public today.

The record showed that Vincent, a onetime member of the Colorado State Legislature and later a federal employe for 10 years during the administration of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, refused to say whether he is a member of the Communist party.

Beall Urges Talbott To End 'Boxcar' Contract With K-F

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Sen. Beall (R-Md) asked Secretary of the Air Force Talbott today "to terminate immediately" a contract with the Kaiser-Frazer Corp. for building about 100 more "Flying Boxcars."

Beall made public a letter to the secretary which said this would save the taxpayers about 100 million dollars on the cargo aircraft, known by the Air Force as C119's.

A Senate Armed Services subcommittee completed public testimony on an investigation of this Kaiser-Frazer contract last week and Chairman Bridges (R-NH) said it would file a report and recommendations later.

Beall, although not a member of this group, quoted at length from its testimony and recommended that the balance of the Kaiser-Frazer contract go to the Fairchild Aircraft Corp. in his home state at Hagerstown, Md. K-F has been building the planes in the Willow Run plant in Michigan.

Beall said testimony shows the Air Force is paying Kaiser-Frazer five times as much to build the identical plane as Fairchild, although Fairchild first developed it under a government contract.

Beall noted that Sen. Williams (R-Del) had told the Senate that Kaiser-Frazier "with the encouragement of the previous political administration, has engaged in industrial cannibalism."

Air Force officers and former civilian officials testified that they gave Kaiser-Frazer a contract for the Flying Boxcars in order to develop a second producer at its Willow Run plant near Detroit, Mich.

They said Fairchild was unable to produce the large numbers of the cargo aircraft expected to be required. They also noted that the unit cost of planes is always high at the start of production.

Beall said that Fairchild is able to turn out all the aircraft needed under the contract and is producing them for $265,067 each compared with $1,339,140 paid to Kaiser-Frazer.

Eisenhower Hopes Peace In Korea Near

President Replies To Congratulatory Letter From Nehru

CUSTER STATE PARK, S. D., June 12 (INS)—President Eisenhower expressed hope today that the prisoner of war agreement signed last week at Panmunjom would "speedily lead to an armistice and just peace in Korea and to a relaxing of world tensions."

The President made this hopeful statement in a cable to India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Nehru Praises U. S., Ike

Mr. Eisenhower said:

"It is my earnest hope that this agreement will speedily lead to an armistice and just peace in Korea and to a relaxing of world tensions."

Nehru, leader of a country that has been a troublesome question mark in the East-West struggle, had sent Eisenhower a cable enthusiastically praising the United States and the President upon the achievement of the POW agreement. Nehru's cablegram said:

"The United States under the leadership of the President has played a wise and generous part in these negotiations which have resulted in an agreement, and I should like to offer my respectful congratulations to President Eisenhower for his leadership at this moment."

Nehru Hopes For Peace

Nehru, like the President, hoped the POW agreement "will lead to peace not only in the Far East, but elsewhere."

Eisenhower paused as he fished for trout in French Creek, 21 miles from Custer, to approve release of the two communications.

Nehru's cable had been delivered to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles yesterday in Washington and relayed to Eisenhower last night.

Clemency Asked For Rosenbergs; New Stay Sought

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Another plea for a stay of execution was filed with the Supreme Court today in behalf of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, condemned atom spies. It was promptly opposed by the Justice Department.

And with the date set for their electrocution only six days away, a new series of clemency appeals was directed at President Eisenhower from this country and abroad.

One came from Dr. Harold C. Urey, noted American chemist and atomic scientist. Emmanuel H. Bloch, attorney for the Rosenbergs, said Urey sent a telegram to the White House saying the case against the couple "outrages logic and justice."

Maurice Cardinal Feltin, archbishop of Paris, appealed to the President from France to spare the lives of the Rosenbergs in the name of charity and peace.

In London, Britain's biggest labor union, the Transport and General Workers, also appealed for clemency in a resolution passed by its Executive Council.

The Rosenbergs, man and wife, are in the death house at New York state's Sing Sing Prison. They are scheduled to go to the electric chair next Thursday for conspiring to slip atomic secrets to Russia.

Yesterday the U. S. Court of appeals in New York City again denied a new trial or a stay of execution for the couple.

The latest appeal to the Supreme Court was filed with the clerk today and will be presented to Justice Jackson in his chambers tomorrow.

Three times the Supreme Court has refused to grant the Rosenbergs a review of their trial.

Eisenhower refused to grant them clemency last Feb. 11. He said they had been accorded a full measure of justice and that their crime "involves the deliberate betrayal of the entire nation and could well result in the death of many thousands of citizens."

LONDON, June 12 (INS)—Radio Moscow reported tonight that Russia and Iran had concluded a one-year pact to exchange "commodities traditional to Soviet-Iranian trade."

Army Will Close 5 More Training Camps, 2 Forts

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The Army today posted closing down notices at five more training camps and announced that two forts—permanent installations—will be declared surplus by July 1, 1954.

Sen. Hill (D-Ala) protested the economy move "means weakening the defense of our country."

"While Russia during the past few months has made tremendous increases in ground troops, submarines, jet planes, long range bombers and atomic bombs," Hill said, "we close Army camps and reduce our Air Force.

"This all seems characteristic of the present Republican administration."

The Army said the shutdowns, which will disperse two divisions and shift two others elsewhere, will save about 30 million dollars a year after they are completed. The first year's savings is estimated at 11 million, because of the cost of moving the troops and closing the facilities.

Scheduled for closing by Jan. 1 are:

Camp Breckinridge, Ky., 101st Airborne Training Division.

Camp Roberts, Calif., 7th Armored Training Division.

Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., signal training school.

Due to be closed by June 30, 1954, are:

Camp Rucker, Ala., 47th Infantry Tactical Division.

Camp Atterbury, Ind., 31st Infantry Tactical Division.

Ft. Crockett, Tex.

Ft. Adams, R. I.

All the camps, which were reopened after the Korean War started, will be placed on a standby status with small caretaker detachments.

Two Sabres Collide, Killing One Of Pilots

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 12 (AP)—Two American Sabre jets collided over Greenland yesterday, killing one of the pilots, the U. S. Air Force here announced today.

The survivor was picked up by helicopter about 30 minutes later, the announcement said. The crash occurred about 35 miles south of Narsarssuakk Airbase as the planes were approaching for a landing. Names of the pilots were withheld pending notification of relatives.

Sweden Orders Staff Named For POW Group

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 12 (AP)—The government today ordered the defense staff to organize Sweden's contingent to serve on the neutral prisoner-of-war repatriation commission in Korea. The staff, not exceeding 50, will consist of officers, lawyers, police, surgeons and persons with refugee camp experience. Lt. Col. Arne Francke is in charge of organization and planning. Czechoslovakia, India, Poland and Switzerland have been named with Sweden to serve on the POW commission.

Searchers Find Body Of Infant, Tornado Victim

HOLDEN, Mass., June 12 (AP)—The body of a two-week-old baby torn from his mother's arms by Tuesday's tornado was found today in ruins near his wrecked home.

The small body of Charles Oslund Jr. was found by weary workmen who had searched for him since shortly after he was swept from his mother's arms.

Germany Beats Drums For Unity

BERLIN, June 12 (AP)—The Communist East and democratic West Germany both beat the drums today for reunification of divided Germany.

But West German Defense Commissioner Theodor Blank warned that Russia and her satellites still have 142 divisions under arms and called for continuation of an active Western defense policy to meet that threat. He said in a speech at Hagen, West Germany, that this build up must continue despite the current Red "peace offensive."

Soviet-occupied East Germany vowed officially to make itself so appealing to all Germans that unity must follow. At the same time, the West German government sent the Western Big Three—Britain, France and the U. S.—an appeal from the Bonn Parliament for peaceful reunification of the country.

The parliamentary appeal, signed by all parties except the Communist, called for free elections throughout Germany, formation of an all-German government, frontiers to be settled in negotiation with a free and sovereign German government and freedom for an all-German government to make alliances with other countries within the framework of the United Nations.

Dean Convinced A-Tests, Storms Are Not Related

WASHINGTON, June 12 (INS)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Dean said today he is "firmly convinced" that Nevada atomic tests had nothing to do with recent tornadoes and floods.

Dean said in a letter to Rep. Cole (R) N. Y., House-Senate Atomic Committee chairman, he is informed that the bad weather comes from "unusual movements" of warm, moist air masses from the Gulf of Mexico colliding with cold air from the north.

The AEC chief reported that he has been in touch with Weather Bureau and military meteorologists and only Thursday asked their views again.

Dean reported: "Their unanimous judgment is that there is no relationship between atomic detonations in Nevada and weather conditions over the United States."

Weeks Lashes Business Foes Of Ike's Tax Plan

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks tonight delivered a sharp verbal spanking to businessmen opposing President Eisenhower's request for a delay in tax relief.

Weeks, who was a Boston industrialist before joining the Eisenhower Cabinet, warned businessmen in a speech at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., that unless they support the administration's "sound money" program, the result may be inflation and mounting debts which will hit them hard.

Meanwhile, signs arose that the administration was gaining strength in its uphill battle to postpone tax cuts while further efforts are made toward a balanced budget.

ARF Swings To Ike

The American Retail Federation, a major business organization, swung to the support of Eisenhower's request for a six-months extension of the excess profits tax.

The federation—made up of 58 state and national retail associations—notified Chairman Daniel Reed (R-NY) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee that it is withdrawing from its "historic" stand against the tax to help Eisenhower's program for a "balanced budget in 1955."

The federation said that in the past it has always opposed the tax on the ground that it is harmful to the nation's economy, destructive to the growth of small business, and inequitable.

At the same time, Under Secretary of the Treasury Marion B. Folsom said in a speech here that the sentiment of businessmen has turned sharply in favor of extending the excess profits tax until Next Jan. 1.

C. of C., NAM Oppose Program

In a speech prepared for a group of manufacturers, Secretary of Commerce Weeks declared:

"I solemnly warn any group of fellow businessmen that it will be tragic for them if they fail to look at the realities and at the economy as a whole.

"As a businessman in government, I am shocked to find some businessmen ignoring the financial menace hanging over this government."

Week's remarks appeared to be aimed at some businessmen in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers who have refused to back Eisenhower's tax program, despite direct administration appeals to them.

Illinois Legislator, Kidnaped Near His Home, Feared Slain

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP) — A "pleasant, good-natured" state legislator, kidnaped near his home while his wife watched helplessly, was missing without a trace today and police expressed fears he may have been slain.

The victim is Clem Graver, 53-year-old Republican state representative. He was seized at 10 p.m. Thursday night while returning from a routine meeting of the 21st Ward regular Republican organization.

Three men in a dark sedan trailed his car to the garage a half block from his West Side home. Two of them went inside, forced him stuggling to their waiting car and sped away.

An all night search by more than 100 policemen turned up no clues.

A policeman was stationed at the Graver home to intercept a possible ransom message by telephone or other means, but reported none was received.

Graver habitually carried large sums of money in his wallet, but William Touhy, deputy chief of detectives, said a robbery motive appeared less likely as time passed on.

"The motive seems to have been some sort of grudge—either political or personal—and that augers possible murder," Touhy remarked.

Graver returned to Chicago from Springfield Thursday afternoon. In the evening he went to the ward meeting and friends there said he appeared in good spirits and did not seem to be disturbed.

He passed his house on the way to the garage, which faces the street and waved to his wife, Amelia, a few minutes before the abduction. Walter Pikelis, 52, a precinct captain in Graver's ward was standing on the front porch with Mrs. Graver and also witnessed the abduction. Three neighbors also told police they saw two of the kidnapers, one in a grey suit and the other wearing a blue suit.

Staff Officers Approach End Of Their Task

Armistice Could Be Signed Next Week; Rhee Still Question

MUNSAN, Saturday, June 13 (AP)—U. S. and Communist truce delegates may return to Panmunjom tomorrow or Monday for decisive final sessions prior to formal signing of a Korean armistice even though South Korean opposition shows no signs of yielding.

Staff officers thrashing out in secret the details of an over-all prisoner exchange and demarcation line to separate the opposing armies apparently neared the end of their labors.

Divided into two teams, the officers were due to meet again at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Friday, EST).

Observers felt that the full delegations would return to Panmunjom Sunday or Monday and that barring some unexpected developments a formal signing would follow shortly.

Final Review Remains

The North Korean Pyongyang radio said a final review of the whole armistice agreement remained as well as settlement of the demarcation line, but no difficulties were expected. It said a signing was anticipated "momentarily."

Whether South Korea's aged President Syngman Rhee would yield at the last moment and go along with the truce remained the big question. There was no outward sign that his opposition to a truce that leaves Korea divided and Chinese troops in the North was relaxing in any way.

The 78-year-old President was close-mouthed when he returned to the capital Friday with U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs from a second meeting in three days with Adm. Arthur Radford, incoming chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Final Details Charted

For the fourth straight day the demonstrators in Seoul reaffirmed the South Korean government position, handing out leaflets reading "Unification or Death . . . March North . . . Give Us Unification."

Despite repeated South Korean threats to continue fighting, the Communist and American staff officers charted final details on how the war should end.

An agreement by staff officers on the actual line was believed close with recesses called for each side to check where it actually stood.

It was possible that final agreement has been reached and each side was preparing demarcation maps which must be initialed.

Austrian Treaty Dare Sent Russia

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The three Western Powers today challenged Russia to state the Kremlin's terms for a treaty restoring full independence to Austria.

The new move in the long post-war dispute was made in notes from the United States, Britain and France which were delivered in Moscow and made public here by the State Department.

They said in effect that since Russia has raised a series of "obstacles" to terms put forward by the West it was now up to Moscow to prove "good will" by stating its price for ending the occupation of Austria.

The action countered the Soviet refusal to attend a May 27 session of Big Four representatives on the Austrian Treaty in London, and the apparent efforts of Moscow since then to woo Austrian good will by a series of concessions.

"To avoid further unnecessary delays and to enable the deputies to complete the work already done, the U. S. government requests the Soviet government to inform it of the exact text of the treaty which the Soviet government is prepared to conclude in order to insure the political and economic independence of Austria," the American note said.

The British and French communications were substantially identical.

Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) said he hopes the Senate will pass the legislation next week and that the House will act swiftly so the first shipments of grain can reach Pakistan in August.

President Eisenhower asked Congress to make the gift in a special message he sent to Capitol Hill Wednesday. The cost of the wheat, plus transportation charges, is estimated at 100 million dollars.

Aiken's committee approved the grant after a brisk, one-day hearing. Secretary of State Dulles and Mutual Security Director Stassen told the committee the wheat would strengthen Pakistan as an anti-Communist ally and at the same time help reduce the big American surplus.

Several amendments were tacked onto the administration's bill to meet objections senators raised regarding distribution of the wheat by the Pakistani government. One would require the government to furnish wheat free to those who are unable to pay for it.

Several senators expressed fear that if Pakistan were allowed to charge cash for the wheat when it was distributed it would breed "hate" and "ill will" for the United States.

Stassen told the senators Pakistan is strongly anti-Communist and the gift of grain "might mean the difference between political and economic stability and progress on the one hand, and acute suffering, riots and recurrent emergencies on the other."

Dulles and Stassen explained that the administration's plan was to let Pakistan sell the wheat to those who could afford to pay for it, putting the money into a special account which could be drawn on only with U. S. approval.

They said it was proposed to use the money for irrigation and other agricultural projects, and to help maintain Pakistan's military forces.

Vincent Balks At Ranch Query

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—A Senate inquiry committee disclosed today that Craig. S. Vincent, 46-year-old former government employe, refused to say whether his ranch in New Mexico is used as a Communist indoctrination center.

Witnesses before a Senate internal security subcommittee have testified that the 160-acre ranch, about 90 miles from the Los Alamos Atomic Weapons Laboratory, was a hot-bed of Communists.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said Vincent was questioned at a closed-door session in Los Angeles on May 28. The testimony, taken by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) was made public today.

The record showed that Vincent, a onetime member of the Colorado State Legislature and later a federal employe for 10 years during the administration of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, refused to say whether he is a member of the Communist party.

Beall Urges Talbott To End 'Boxcar' Contract With K-F

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Sen. Beall (R-Md) asked Secretary of the Air Force Talbott today "to terminate immediately" a contract with the Kaiser-Frazer Corp. for building about 100 more "Flying Boxcars."

Beall made public a letter to the secretary which said this would save the taxpayers about 100 million dollars on the cargo aircraft, known by the Air Force as C119's.

A Senate Armed Services subcommittee completed public testimony on an investigation of this Kaiser-Frazer contract last week and Chairman Bridges (R-NH) said it would file a report and recommendations later.

Beall, although not a member of this group, quoted at length from its testimony and recommended that the balance of the Kaiser-Frazer contract go to the Fairchild Aircraft Corp. in his home state at Hagerstown, Md. K-F has been building the planes in the Willow Run plant in Michigan.

Beall said testimony shows the Air Force is paying Kaiser-Frazer five times as much to build the identical plane as Fairchild, although Fairchild first developed it under a government contract.

Beall noted that Sen. Williams (R-Del) had told the Senate that Kaiser-Frazier "with the encouragement of the previous political administration, has engaged in industrial cannibalism."

Air Force officers and former civilian officials testified that they gave Kaiser-Frazer a contract for the Flying Boxcars in order to develop a second producer at its Willow Run plant near Detroit, Mich.

They said Fairchild was unable to produce the large numbers of the cargo aircraft expected to be required. They also noted that the unit cost of planes is always high at the start of production.

Beall said that Fairchild is able to turn out all the aircraft needed under the contract and is producing them for $265,067 each compared with $1,339,140 paid to Kaiser-Frazer.

Eisenhower Hopes Peace In Korea Near

President Replies To Congratulatory Letter From Nehru

CUSTER STATE PARK, S. D., June 12 (INS)—President Eisenhower expressed hope today that the prisoner of war agreement signed last week at Panmunjom would "speedily lead to an armistice and just peace in Korea and to a relaxing of world tensions."

The President made this hopeful statement in a cable to India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Nehru Praises U. S., Ike

Mr. Eisenhower said:

"It is my earnest hope that this agreement will speedily lead to an armistice and just peace in Korea and to a relaxing of world tensions."

Nehru, leader of a country that has been a troublesome question mark in the East-West struggle, had sent Eisenhower a cable enthusiastically praising the United States and the President upon the achievement of the POW agreement. Nehru's cablegram said:

"The United States under the leadership of the President has played a wise and generous part in these negotiations which have resulted in an agreement, and I should like to offer my respectful congratulations to President Eisenhower for his leadership at this moment."

Nehru Hopes For Peace

Nehru, like the President, hoped the POW agreement "will lead to peace not only in the Far East, but elsewhere."

Eisenhower paused as he fished for trout in French Creek, 21 miles from Custer, to approve release of the two communications.

Nehru's cable had been delivered to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles yesterday in Washington and relayed to Eisenhower last night.

Clemency Asked For Rosenbergs; New Stay Sought

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Another plea for a stay of execution was filed with the Supreme Court today in behalf of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, condemned atom spies. It was promptly opposed by the Justice Department.

And with the date set for their electrocution only six days away, a new series of clemency appeals was directed at President Eisenhower from this country and abroad.

One came from Dr. Harold C. Urey, noted American chemist and atomic scientist. Emmanuel H. Bloch, attorney for the Rosenbergs, said Urey sent a telegram to the White House saying the case against the couple "outrages logic and justice."

Maurice Cardinal Feltin, archbishop of Paris, appealed to the President from France to spare the lives of the Rosenbergs in the name of charity and peace.

In London, Britain's biggest labor union, the Transport and General Workers, also appealed for clemency in a resolution passed by its Executive Council.

The Rosenbergs, man and wife, are in the death house at New York state's Sing Sing Prison. They are scheduled to go to the electric chair next Thursday for conspiring to slip atomic secrets to Russia.

Yesterday the U. S. Court of appeals in New York City again denied a new trial or a stay of execution for the couple.

The latest appeal to the Supreme Court was filed with the clerk today and will be presented to Justice Jackson in his chambers tomorrow.

Three times the Supreme Court has refused to grant the Rosenbergs a review of their trial.

Eisenhower refused to grant them clemency last Feb. 11. He said they had been accorded a full measure of justice and that their crime "involves the deliberate betrayal of the entire nation and could well result in the death of many thousands of citizens."

The bride is the daughter of James Roosevelt and the former Betsey Cushing, who now is married to multi-millionaire John Hay Whitney.

Army Will Close 5 More Training Camps, 2 Forts

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The Army today posted closing down notices at five more training camps and announced that two forts—permanent installations—will be declared surplus by July 1, 1954.

Sen. Hill (D-Ala) protested the economy move "means weakening the defense of our country."

"While Russia during the past few months has made tremendous increases in ground troops, submarines, jet planes, long range bombers and atomic bombs," Hill said, "we close Army camps and reduce our Air Force.

"This all seems characteristic of the present Republican administration."

The Army said the shutdowns, which will disperse two divisions and shift two others elsewhere, will save about 30 million dollars a year after they are completed. The first year's savings is estimated at 11 million, because of the cost of moving the troops and closing the facilities.

Scheduled for closing by Jan. 1 are:

Camp Breckinridge, Ky., 101st Airborne Training Division.

Camp Roberts, Calif., 7th Armored Training Division.

Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., signal training school.

Due to be closed by June 30, 1954, are:

Camp Rucker, Ala., 47th Infantry Tactical Division.

Camp Atterbury, Ind., 31st Infantry Tactical Division.

Ft. Crockett, Tex.

Ft. Adams, R. I.

All the camps, which were reopened after the Korean War started, will be placed on a standby status with small caretaker detachments.

Two Sabres Collide, Killing One Of Pilots

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 12 (AP)—Two American Sabre jets collided over Greenland yesterday, killing one of the pilots, the U. S. Air Force here announced today.

The survivor was picked up by helicopter about 30 minutes later, the announcement said. The crash occurred about 35 miles south of Narsarssuakk Airbase as the planes were approaching for a landing. Names of the pilots were withheld pending notification of relatives.

Sweden Orders Staff Named For POW Group

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 12 (AP)—The government today ordered the defense staff to organize Sweden's contingent to serve on the neutral prisoner-of-war repatriation commission in Korea. The staff, not exceeding 50, will consist of officers, lawyers, police, surgeons and persons with refugee camp experience. Lt. Col. Arne Francke is in charge of organization and planning. Czechoslovakia, India, Poland and Switzerland have been named with Sweden to serve on the POW commission.

Searchers Find Body Of Infant, Tornado Victim

HOLDEN, Mass., June 12 (AP)—The body of a two-week-old baby torn from his mother's arms by Tuesday's tornado was found today in ruins near his wrecked home.

The small body of Charles Oslund Jr. was found by weary workmen who had searched for him since shortly after he was swept from his mother's arms.

Germany Beats Drums For Unity

BERLIN, June 12 (AP)—The Communist East and democratic West Germany both beat the drums today for reunification of divided Germany.

But West German Defense Commissioner Theodor Blank warned that Russia and her satellites still have 142 divisions under arms and called for continuation of an active Western defense policy to meet that threat. He said in a speech at Hagen, West Germany, that this build up must continue despite the current Red "peace offensive."

Soviet-occupied East Germany vowed officially to make itself so appealing to all Germans that unity must follow. At the same time, the West German government sent the Western Big Three—Britain, France and the U. S.—an appeal from the Bonn Parliament for peaceful reunification of the country.

The parliamentary appeal, signed by all parties except the Communist, called for free elections throughout Germany, formation of an all-German government, frontiers to be settled in negotiation with a free and sovereign German government and freedom for an all-German government to make alliances with other countries within the framework of the United Nations.

Dean Convinced A-Tests, Storms Are Not Related

WASHINGTON, June 12 (INS)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Dean said today he is "firmly convinced" that Nevada atomic tests had nothing to do with recent tornadoes and floods.

Dean said in a letter to Rep. Cole (R) N. Y., House-Senate Atomic Committee chairman, he is informed that the bad weather comes from "unusual movements" of warm, moist air masses from the Gulf of Mexico colliding with cold air from the north.

The AEC chief reported that he has been in touch with Weather Bureau and military meteorologists and only Thursday asked their views again.

Dean reported: "Their unanimous judgment is that there is no relationship between atomic detonations in Nevada and weather conditions over the United States."

Weeks Lashes Business Foes Of Ike's Tax Plan

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks tonight delivered a sharp verbal spanking to businessmen opposing President Eisenhower's request for a delay in tax relief.

Weeks, who was a Boston industrialist before joining the Eisenhower Cabinet, warned businessmen in a speech at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., that unless they support the administration's "sound money" program, the result may be inflation and mounting debts which will hit them hard.

Meanwhile, signs arose that the administration was gaining strength in its uphill battle to postpone tax cuts while further efforts are made toward a balanced budget.

ARF Swings To Ike

The American Retail Federation, a major business organization, swung to the support of Eisenhower's request for a six-months extension of the excess profits tax.

The federation—made up of 58 state and national retail associations—notified Chairman Daniel Reed (R-NY) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee that it is withdrawing from its "historic" stand against the tax to help Eisenhower's program for a "balanced budget in 1955."

The federation said that in the past it has always opposed the tax on the ground that it is harmful to the nation's economy, destructive to the growth of small business, and inequitable.

At the same time, Under Secretary of the Treasury Marion B. Folsom said in a speech here that the sentiment of businessmen has turned sharply in favor of extending the excess profits tax until Next Jan. 1.

C. of C., NAM Oppose Program

In a speech prepared for a group of manufacturers, Secretary of Commerce Weeks declared:

"I solemnly warn any group of fellow businessmen that it will be tragic for them if they fail to look at the realities and at the economy as a whole.

"As a businessman in government, I am shocked to find some businessmen ignoring the financial menace hanging over this government."

Week's remarks appeared to be aimed at some businessmen in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers who have refused to back Eisenhower's tax program, despite direct administration appeals to them.

Illinois Legislator, Kidnaped Near His Home, Feared Slain

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP) — A "pleasant, good-natured" state legislator, kidnaped near his home while his wife watched helplessly, was missing without a trace today and police expressed fears he may have been slain.

The victim is Clem Graver, 53-year-old Republican state representative. He was seized at 10 p.m. Thursday night while returning from a routine meeting of the 21st Ward regular Republican organization.

Three men in a dark sedan trailed his car to the garage a half block from his West Side home. Two of them went inside, forced him stuggling to their waiting car and sped away.

An all night search by more than 100 policemen turned up no clues.

A policeman was stationed at the Graver home to intercept a possible ransom message by telephone or other means, but reported none was received.

Graver habitually carried large sums of money in his wallet, but William Touhy, deputy chief of detectives, said a robbery motive appeared less likely as time passed on.

"The motive seems to have been some sort of grudge—either political or personal — and that augers possible murder," Touhy remarked.

Graver returned to Chicago from Springfield Thursday afternoon. In the evening he went to the ward meeting and friends there said he appeared in good spirits and did not seem to be disturbed.

He passed his house on the way to the garage, which faces the street and waved to his wife, Amelia, a few minutes before the abduction. Walter Pikelis, 52, a precinct captain in Graver's ward was standing on the front porch with Mrs. Graver and also witnessed the abduction. Three neighbors also told police they saw two of the kidnapers, one in a grey suit and the other wearing a blue suit.

Staff Officers Approach End Of Their Task

Armistice Could Be Signed Next Week; Rhee Still Question

MUNSAN, Saturday, June 13 (AP)—U. S. and Communist truce delegates may return to Panmunjom tomorrow or Monday for decisive final sessions prior to formal signing of a Korean armistice even though South Korean opposition shows no signs of yielding.

Staff officers thrashing out in secret the details of an over-all prisoner exchange and demarcation line to separate the opposing armies apparently neared the end of their labors.

Divided into two teams, the officers were due to meet again at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Friday, EST).

Observers felt that the full delegations would return to Panmunjom Sunday or Monday and that barring some unexpected developments a formal signing would follow shortly.

Final Review Remains

The North Korean Pyongyang radio said a final review of the whole armistice agreement remained as well as settlement of the demarcation line, but no difficulties were expected. It said a signing was anticipated "momentarily."

Whether South Korea's aged President Syngman Rhee would yield at the last moment and go along with the truce remained the big question. There was no outward sign that his opposition to a truce that leaves Korea divided and Chinese troops in the North was relaxing in any way.

The 78-year-old President was close-mouthed when he returned to the capital Friday with U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs from a second meeting in three days with Adm. Arthur Radford, incoming chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Final Details Charted

For the fourth straight day the demonstrators in Seoul reaffirmed the South Korean government position, handing out leaflets reading "Unification or Death . . . March North . . . Give Us Unification."

Despite repeated South Korean threats to continue fighting, the Communist and American staff officers charted final details on how the war should end.

An agreement by staff officers on the actual line was believed close with recesses called for each side to check where it actually stood.

It was possible that final agreement has been reached and each side was preparing demarcation maps which must be initialed.

Austrian Treaty Dare Sent Russia

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The three Western Powers today challenged Russia to state the Kremlin's terms for a treaty restoring full independence to Austria.

The new move in the long post-war dispute was made in notes from the United States, Britain and France which were delivered in Moscow and made public here by the State Department.

They said in effect that since Russia has raised a series of "obstacles" to terms put forward by the West it was now up to Moscow to prove "good will" by stating its price for ending the occupation of Austria.

The action countered the Soviet refusal to attend a May 27 session of Big Four representatives on the Austrian Treaty in London, and the apparent efforts of Moscow since then to woo Austrian good will by a series of concessions.

"To avoid further unnecessary delays and to enable the deputies to complete the work already done, the U. S. government requests the Soviet government to inform it of the exact text of the treaty which the Soviet government is prepared to conclude in order to insure the political and economic independence of Austria," the American note said.

The British and French communications were substantially identical.

Postal Superintendent Sentenced For Theft

BALTIMORE, June 12 (AP) — The superintendent of the Fort Holabird, Md., postal station was sentenced today to nine months imprisonment by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut.

John H. Fell, a veteran of 26 years in the postal service, pleaded guilty on a charge of embezzlement and theft from the mails.

Young Mother Knifed To Death; Trucker Held

BALTIMORE, June 12 (AP) — It was a tense night for pretty June Bovata, at 19 the mother of two, talking reconciliation with her estranged husband and dodging the truck driver with whom she had been living.

A flashing knife ended it in the chilly dawn this morning. June Bovata lay dead on the sidewalk outside her mother's apartment.

Police charged the truck driver with murder after questioning him all morning. He is Raymond Burrs, 26. He surrendered at a police station about the time the body was found.

Burrs also was charged with an assault with intent to kill Joseph Perreara, 24, who had taken June home at 5 a.m. He was cut on the shoulder when he tried to beat off the attacker.

Anthony Bovata and June had driven around together all night, trying to patch up their marriage. Anthony got Perreara to take June home. He told police he was afraid to take her himself.

At home, Mrs. Evelyn Allison had gone to sleep waiting for her daughter, who had moved into the apartment with her only last Sunday after living with Burrs.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Allison told police, Burrs had come around and grabbed June's youngest son, seven-month old Raymond, out of his crib.

Again last night, she said, he had come looking for June after she had gone "around the corner for a sandwich."

Perreara told police someone darted out of the shadows at June when he let her out at a corner near the Allison apartment. Perreara struggled with the man and chased him away. When Perreara returned to the spot, June was gone.

Perreara thought she had run into the house and drove to a hospital to get treatment for his wounds.

Owner Of Yacht Club Posts $500 As Liquor Referendum Security

ROSE HAVEN, Md., June 12 (AP) —Joseph E. Rose has plunked down $500 to cover the costs so he'll finally get a referendum on selling liquor at his yacht club.

He put up the money as security for expenses of the vote on June 18, as directed by the Legislature.

The General Assembly passed the "Rose Haven" bill last session after three years of trying by Rose. The governor vetoed one measure, and the Legislature buried another.

Before putting it through this year, the Senate tacked on an amendment providing that no referendum be conducted even yet if some "person, firm or corporation" didn't post an amount estimated to cover expenses. The "someone" was Rose.

He owns the yacht club at the mouth of Herring Bay, along with the rest of a resort development at this Southern tip of Anne Arundel County. Beer and wine have been legal, but hard drinks taboo.

An even 1,000 registered voters in this election district may decide whether Rose may put up an even $1,000 a year for a license to sell liquor.

Half-And-Half Bills Land Boys In Trouble

BALTIMORE, June 12 (AP)—Two youngsters with a scheme for splitting $21 into $40 won probation today when they came up in federal court on counterfeiting charges.

Judge W. Calvin Chesnut suspended prison sentences on James A. Livengood, who came here from Cuzzart, W. Va., and Paris Andrew Clemons, who hails from Shawver Mill, Va. Both are 19.

The money manipulating was Livengood's idea, testimony showed.

When he drew his pay from a steel plant May 14 he took a razor and managed to split a $20 and a $1 bill in two. Then he glued the front of the $20 bill to the back of the $1 bill, and vice versa.

Clemons passed one of the half-and-half jobs for a $20 bill at a tavern, but when they tried the same trick with the other makeshift at another tavern they ran into a smart bartender.

Gag Makeup Bars Young Graduate

RICHMOND, Va., June 12 (AP)— Danny Barbee, 15, went all out in his gag makeup for class day fun at Chandler Junior High School.

And as far as Principal Alvin Beale is concerned, Danny is all the way out of tomorrow's graduation exercises.

Danny showed up Wednesday with a Mohawk haircut, eyebrows painted red, and a red "eye" painted on the back of his head.

"Ridiculous," snorted Beale, picturing Danny's effect on the audience if he should appear on the stage of the school auditorium at graduation exercises to get his certificate.

The certificate will be mailed, Beale ruled, unless Danny shaves off that ridge of hair down the center of his head.

Bridge Handbill Probe Is Asked

ANNAPOLIS, June 12 (AP) — Del. Richard E. Lankford charged today state employes at the Potomac River bridge passed out handbills advertising a restaurant in which the commissioner of motor vehicles is interested.

He asked Gov. McKeldin to investigate.

Lankford, Annapolis lawyer and a Democratic member of the House of Delegates from Anne Arundel County, said he had discovered Commissioner Thomas B. R. Mudd is an officer and stockholder in the restaurant.

He said he had been told the distribution of handbills continued "until a motorist complained and they put a stop to it."

He described the restaurant as one leased for operation as part of a chain (Howard Johnson). He said it was near La Plata about 12 miles north of the bridge on U. S. 301.

The white handbills with yellow print were handed out at toll booths "around meal times," Lankford said.

In a letter to the governor he listed other stockholders in the restaurant corporation a George Barnes, member of the Rent Advisory Board for Southern Maryland; Frank B. Wade, president of the Charles County Board of Education; Trial Magistrate Lemerton Crist and Col. Peter Vischer, whom he identified as an alternate delegate to the Republican national convention last year.

Court Decides Tax Assessments Valid

ANNAPOLIS, June 12 (AP) — Tax assessors observed the required uniform standard although they used two different methods of evaluating a Hagerstown industry, the Court of Appeals said today.

In that Western Maryland city they referred to actual costs to appraise recent construction and State Tax Commission manuals to put a value on older buildings.

They were uniform in each case, so the assessments were valid, Judge Stephen R. Collins said.

The court reversed Circuit Judge Joseph D. Mish and approved final assessments made by the Tax Commission on the Brandt Cabinet Works for 1949. Mish said the commission should have used the same technique for appraising all industrial property in one district.

Jail "Veteran" Draws New Five-Year Term

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—David A. Stuckey, who has spent 27 of his 52 years in jail, was put away for five more today.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan sentenced him to five years for stealing checks worth $12,000 from the mails in five states: Pennsylvania, Georgia, Arizona, Connecticut and Indiana.

Stuckey was arrested in Newburgh, N. Y., last March when he tried to cash a stolen check.

He pleaded guilty to indictments brought against him in each of the states.

"This," said Ryan, "should clean up the slate for a while."

Colloquialism Convinces Appeals Court Glover Murder Verdict Valid

ANNAPOLIS, June 12 (AP) — Lott Glover several times referred to loose change as "white money," and that colloquialism helped convince the Court of Appeals today that he was rightly found guilty of murder.

The court upheld the 33-year-old Washington Negro's conviction of fatally beating a filling station attendant on U. S. 1 at Beltsville 18 months ago.

Glover had insisted a confession police attributed to him should have been barred from his trial in Prince George's County Circuit Court.

One of the slips that tripped him in the eyes of the state's high court was his use of the phrase "white money" to distinguish other coins from pennies.

Glover admitted at his trial that he robbed the filling station, but denied striking the attendant, James A. Beacraft, early in the morning of Jan. 29, 1952.

He told of putting "green money" in one pocket and "white money" in another.

Judge Hall Hammond noted for the unanimous appellate court that the statement introduced by police also contained the same expression.

"The term 'white money' is not one ordinarily heard or customarily used," Hammond said. "It is difficult to believe that the phrase in the confession is not his."

Glover testified in the county court that police at Hyattsville hit him with a rubber hose, wrote the statement, then seized his right hand to move it in lines creating his signature. He said two acquaintances following him in another car must have killed Beacraft.

His lawyers argued the state had failed to prove police obtained the confession without threats or promises.

Owner Of Yacht Club Posts $500 As Liquor Referendum Security

ROSE HAVEN, Md., June 12 (AP) —Joseph E. Rose has plunked down $500 to cover the costs so he'll finally get a referendum on selling liquor at his yacht club.

He put up the money as security for expenses of the vote on June 18, as directed by the Legislature.

The General Assembly passed the "Rose Haven" bill last session after three years of trying by Rose. The governor vetoed one measure, and the Legislature buried another.

Before putting it through this year, the Senate tacked on an amendment providing that no referendum be conducted even yet if some "person, firm or corporation" didn't post an amount estimated to cover expenses. The "someone" was Rose.

He owns the yacht club at the mouth of Herring Bay, along with the rest of a resort development at this Southern tip of Anne Arundel County. Beer and wine have been legal, but hard drinks taboo.

An even 1,000 registered voters in this election district may decide whether Rose may put up an even $1,000 a year for a license to sell liquor.

Half-And-Half Bills Land Boys In Trouble

BALTIMORE, June 12 (AP)—Two youngsters with a scheme for splitting $21 into $40 won probation today when they came up in federal court on counterfeiting charges.

Judge W. Calvin Chesnut suspended prison sentences on James A. Livengood, who came here from Cuzzart, W. Va., and Paris Andrew Clemons, who hails from Shawver Mill, Va. Both are 19.

The money manipulating was Livengood's idea, testimony showed.

When he drew his pay from a steel plant May 14 he took a razor and managed to split a $20 and a $1 bill in two. Then he glued the front of the $20 bill to the back of the $1 bill, and vice versa.

Clemons passed one of the half-and-half jobs for a $20 bill at a tavern, but when they tried the same trick with the other makeshift at another tavern they ran into a smart bartender.

Colloquialism Convinces Appeals Court Glover Murder Verdict Valid

ANNAPOLIS, June 12 (AP) — Lott Glover several times referred to loose change as "white money," and that colloquialism helped convince the Court of Appeals today that he was rightly found guilty of murder.

The court upheld the 33-year-old Washington Negro's conviction of fatally beating a filling station attendant on U. S. 1 at Beltsville 18 months ago.

Glover had insisted a confession police attributed to him should have been barred from his trial in Prince George's County Circuit Court.

One of the slips that tripped him in the eyes of the state's high court was his use of the phrase "white money" to distinguish other coins from pennies.

Glover admitted at his trial that he robbed the filling station, but denied striking the attendant, James A. Beacraft, early in the morning of Jan. 29, 1952.

He told of putting "green money" in one pocket and "white money" in another.

Judge Hall Hammond noted for the unanimous appellate court that the statement introduced by police also contained the same expression.

"The term 'white money' is not one ordinarily heard or customarily used," Hammond said. "It is difficult to believe that the phrase in the confession is not his."

Glover testified in the county court that police at Hyattsville hit him with a rubber hose, wrote the statement, then seized his right hand to move it in lines creating his signature. He said two acquaintances following him in another car must have killed Beacraft.

His lawyers argued the state had failed to prove police obtained the confession without threats or promises.

Gag Makeup Bars Young Graduate

RICHMOND, Va., June 12 (AP)—Danny Barbee, 15, went all out in his gag makeup for class day fun at Chandler Junior High School.

And as far as Principal Alvin Beale is concerned, Danny is all the way out of tomorrow's graduation exercises.

Danny showed up Wednesday with a Mohawk haircut, eyebrows painted red, and a red "eye" painted on the back of his head.

"Ridiculous," snorted Beale, picturing Danny's effect on the audience if he should appear on the stage of the school auditorium at graduation exercises to get his certificate.

The certificate will be mailed, Beale ruled, unless Danny shaves off that ridge of hair down the center of his head.

Bridge Handbill Probe Is Asked

ANNAPOLIS, June 12 (AP) — Del. Richard E. Lankford charged today state employes at the Potomac River bridge passed out handbills advertising a restaurant in which the commissioner of motor vehicles is interested.

He asked Gov. McKeldin to investigate.

Lankford, Annapolis lawyer and a Democratic member of the House of Delegates from Anne Arundel County, said he had discovered Commissioner Thomas B. R. Mudd is an officer and stockholder in the restaurant.

He said he had been told the distribution of handbills continued "until a motorist complained and they put a stop to it."

He described the restaurant as one leased for operation as part of a chain (Howard Johnson). He said it was near La Plata about 12 miles north of the bridge on U. S. 301.

The white handbills with yellow print were handed out at toll booths "around meal times," Lankford said.

In a letter to the governor he listed other stockholders in the restaurant corporation a George Barnes, member of the Rent Advisory Board for Southern Maryland; Frank B. Wade, president of the Charles County Board of Education; Trial Magistrate Lemerton Crist and Col. Peter Vischer, whom he identified as an alternate delegate to the Republican national convention last year.

Court Decides Tax Assessments Valid

ANNAPOLIS, June 12 (AP) — Tax assessors observed the required uniform standard although they used two different methods of evaluating a Hagerstown industry, the Court of Appeals said today.

In that Western Maryland city they referred to actual costs to appraise recent construction and State Tax Commission manuals to put a value on older buildings.

They were uniform in each case, so the assessments were valid, Judge Stephen R. Collins said.

The court reversed Circuit Judge Joseph D. Mish and approved final assessments made by the Tax Commission on the Brandt Cabinet Works for 1949. Mish said the commission should have used the same technique for appraising all industrial property in one district.

Jail "Veteran" Draws New Five-Year Term

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—David A. Stuckey, who has spent 27 of his 52 years in jail, was put away for five more today.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan sentenced him to five years for stealing checks worth $12,000 from the mails in five states: Pennsylvania, Georgia, Arizona, Connecticut and Indiana.

Stuckey was arrested in Newburgh, N. Y., last March when he tried to cash a stolen check.

He pleaded guilty to indictments brought against him in each of the states.

"This," said Ryan, "should clean up the slate for a while."

Hell's Canyon Dam

The Federal Power Commission must shortly decide whether a dam or dams in Hell's Canyon, a deep and narrow gorge separating eastern Oregon from western Idaho, are to be publicly or privately constructed. At stake, in addition to how much power is to be afforded — and when — are issues of flood control and irrigation.

Secretary of the Interior McKay on May 5 withdrew the long-standing opposition of his department to the application of the Idaho Power Company for permission to build three dams in the canyon. In the Truman administration the Interior Department had urged a public maximum-power, comprehensive-purpose project for Hell's Canyon.

In his statement of May 5, Secretary McKay pointed out that private industry was "ready and willing" to build in Hell's Canyon; that Congress in the past had rejected or indefinitely postponed a federal project; that it appeared doubtful whether appropriations for the federal dam could be justified at this time "in view of efforts to balance the budget." In the light of these factors, "the Department of the Interior would be playing the reprehensible part of 'a dog in the manger' if it insisted on opposing a badly needed development."

The federal plan had involved an expenditure of $559,791,000 for a dam on the Snake River in Hell's Canyon, a power plant, transmission lines and other facilities, plus an irrigation system in the vicinity of Mountain Home, Idaho, scheduled at $282,800,000. The dam would have had an ultimate installed capacity of 900,000 kilowatts.

The Idaho Power Company wants to build three smaller dams, with installed capacity of 783,000 kilowatts. Secretary McKay argues that the private project "can be on the line seven or eight years before the Hell's Canyon (federal) Dam can be in production."

Insofar as flood control is concerned, he says, "there is little to choose between the two plans." As for irrigation, "there appears to be no reason why other projects in the basin could not be used with the same logic as that proposed for Hell's Canyon." McKay concedes that the high federal dam would be somewhat more effective than the private dam in improving navigation, but calls this benefit "small in any event."

Senator Morse on the Senate floor on May 27 vigorously criticized McKay for withdrawing Interior's opposition to the private company's application. The greatest difference in time—between the construction of the private project and of the federal dam—would be five years, Morse argued, adding that the difference "could be as little as three years."

Morse cited the Interior Department's own report of 1952 to the House Interior Committee as authority for the statement that the federal dam would not only furnish 668,000 kilowatts of "firm power" to the Idaho-Oregon area, but would have reservoir capacity to augment the power of other dams by 436,000 kilowatts. As for flood control, Morse quotes the Army Corps of Engineers to the effect that the federal dam would "provide complete control of the Snake River at that point in the river," whereas the private project would fall short by 2,800,000 acre-feet.

The Atomic Breeder

Atomic Energy Chairman Gordon Dean put it this way to a group of scientists and businessmen meeting at Atlantic City: Just suppose that by burning up 100 gallons of gasoline we could change 90 gallons of water into new gasoline This is fine, but ultimately we might run out of gasoline.

Now suppose we succeeded in producing 100 or more gallons of new gasoline from water by the same process. Then we'd never run out of gasoline. And this state of affairs, once considered theoretically possible for scarce fissionable materials, now appears to be an actuality.

A team of scientists at the AEC's reactor testing station, near Idaho Falls, Idaho, have succeeded in developing an atomic power plant which, in addition to providing energy, also acts as a "breeder." In other words it produces new fuel "at least" as rapidly as fuel is consumed. The full significance is that mankind can use all the uranium which can be extracted from the earth, whether it is fissionable or not. The breeder at Idaho Falls runs on U-235, which is the rarest and the most expensive to extract from uranium-bearing ores.

This statement, which was made by coincidence on the same day that we released in Nevada the heaviest atomic blast ever recorded on this continent, is full of heartening implications. However, it doesn't mean that atomic power units are now ready to compete with coal and oil as sources of energy. In the first place, the new fuel which will be produced by the atomic power plant must be extracted by one of the most expensive processes yet known.

Considering the billions which operating atomic units are known to have cost, the price tag on this process must be astronomical. Secondly, the "breeding" is a slow process, and a plant must be in operation for about five years before it starts giving back an amount of fissionable material equal to that already consumed.

Nevertheless Dean's report shows how much closer we have come to the point where atomic energy can actually serve us docilely, and where it will soon be practical to break down the strict government monopoly on its uses and open the field to private industry.

Defending Niagara

Geologists are more or less agreed that the Niagara River began its existence after the retreat of the last ice sheet, which uncovered the present site of the Niagara Gorge. Modern man uses the ancient natural phenomenon called Niagara Falls as a source of electric power.

As a source of electric power in the industrial northeast, Niagara Falls is a prime target of atomic attack. New York state's Civil Defense Director, Lt. Gen. Huebner, reveals that Niagara is in a state of relative preparedness, due to three years of planning. "But it is still not ready to receive a bomb," asserts this officer, in a curious bit of phrasing.

The idea of Niagara Falls being set to receive an atomic bomb is one of those commentaries on the age that could give rise to all sorts of philosophic reflections. The natural grandeur that is Niagara's somehow diminished even the lethal impressiveness of the mushroom-shaped cloud of an atomic explosion. The Iroquois called Niagara "Jorakare"—thundering water.

But the preservation of natural splendor is not of concern to civil defense authorities, who are concerned, with reason, in preserving this enormous source of electric power for industries which are themselves part of the national defense structure.

How To Keep Well

'I Had A Bad Spell Last Night'

Each year we receive hundreds of questions that are so vague they cannot be answered. A common query is: "My boy has a rash. What is it and what can be done about it?" The writer of the letter may not know there are more than 2,000 different skin disorders varying from leprosy to prickly heat. Because no clews are offered there is no way of knowing what the lesion looks like.

Another example is the word "spell." A woman will say: "My aunt had a bad spell last night and the doctor wants her to go to the hospital. Do you think it is serious?" Physicians never use the word and neither do two popular medical dictionaries. Webster lists it as colloquial, meaning "a time of body discomfort and ill feeling." This is a big order and almost as vague as the word "rash."

"Spell" is an expression that has been handed down from generation to generation to describe various conditions. To some it means a period of unconsciousness resulting from a faint, fit, convulsion, blackout, or stroke. Because the word means so many different things, the physician wants to know more. One patient might allude to an epileptic seizure and another, to a heart attack. Mrs. Jones may call up and tell of a "spell" she had the night before which amounted to no more than a nauseated feeling, whereas Mr. Smith may use the word when his wife swoons on the kitchen floor. I'm not complaining but suggesting that if the patient is more specific the medico can be of more help.

Almost every one has seen a person faint. The attack usually is precipitated by poor ventilation, the sight of blood, or an emotional upset such as excitement or fear. The victim slumps to the floor with a thud and lies perfectly still. His pulse and breathing are barely perceptible and the skin is cold and ashen. He looks dead and even the expert may be in doubt for a moment. After coming to, he is weak and shaky for a while.

The epileptic seizure (fit) is different. It comes on without cause at any time of the day or night, sitting quietly in the living room or in sleep. The victim of grand mal lets out a cry, falls to the ground, and goes into convulsion associated with jerky movements of the neck, lips, and extremities. It is at such times that the tongue is bitten and foam appears at the mouth. After a few moments the body becomes rigid and then relaxes as though in sleep. Petit mal is another variety of epilepsy and is best described as a blackout. The period of unconsciousness is so brief the individual seldom falls. These are the most common "spells" in which there is loss of consciousness.

ALLEVIATING PAIN

F. G. writes: How does a brain operation relieve pain?

REPLY

Several operations in and about the brain have been devised for the relief of intractable pain. These procedures vary from cutting certain nerves to separating the front part of the brain from the remainder.

MAN'S BLOOD VOLUME

V. C. writes: How many quarts of blood does the body contain?

REPLY

From 3½ to 5½ quarts, depending upon the weight of the body.

MINERALS IN FOOD

L. P. writes: Are there any foods that do not contain minerals?

REPLY

Only pure carbohydrates and fats.

EXCESS FACIAL HAIR

W. T. writes: If a woman develops excessive hair on the face during pregnancy, will it go away after the baby is born?

REPLY

This depends upon the cause. When the growth of facial hair is purely coincidental to pregnancy, there is a good chance that it will persist. On the other hand if it is caused by a temporary glandular inbalance, it is likely to disappear after confinement. My advice is to wait and see what happens.

EATING AND ATHLETICS

D. J. writes: My young son is a wrestler who insists upon starving for 36 hours before every match to make his weight. I think this makes him weak but he disagrees. What is your opinion?

REPLY

Your boy either should wrestle at a heavier weight or lose over a period of three to six days before the match. Otherwise lack of food may lead to weakness when he most needs strength. Regardless of the weight, the athlete should include in his daily diet such basic foods as meat, cheese, fish, and eggs for protein; two or more glasses of milk, vegetables, and citrus friends, enriched whole grain breads and cereals.

WALKING IS BETTER

T. P. writes: Is it beneficial for a middle aged person who never has done anything more strenuous than walking to start exercising with bar bells, hand grips, and chest exercisers?

REPLY

This is no time to start strenuous activity. Why not walk more?

DREW PEARSON on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rhee May Be Causing Truce Headaches, But It's Hard To Be Angry At Him When Knowing His Steadfastness Of Purpose.

WASHINGTON — Dr. Syngman Rhee, our willful, sometimes cantankerous friend in South Korea, may be causing us truce headaches, but when you look back over the vista of his 78 years you can understand why.

During those years he has been beaten with bamboo rods daily for seven months. He has had oil paper wrapped round his wrists and then set on fire. He has had his fingers mashed so horribly that even today he blows on them to keep them warm. He has had to wear a 20-pound wooden cangue around his neck and sit with his feet and hands locked in stocks.

He has spent seven years in prison, 41 years in exile, and has had a $300,000 Japanese price put on his head. He has been rebuffed. He has been disheartened. But he has never ceased fighting for the liberty of the barren little country which is the focus of the world today.

And having staged that fight, having suffered such punishment, he is not, at the age of 78, easily persuaded to surrender.

I knew Rhee when he lived in exile in Washington, president of the so-called "Korean Republic," then occupied by soldiers of Japan, and which no one ever thought could become free gain—no one, that is, except Rhee.

Rhee's Diplomatic Record

The president-in-exile had come to this country at the age of 27 during the Portsmouth, N. H., Conference called to settle the Russo-Japanese War. Rhee, a young Republican radical recently out of prison, personally urged President Theodore Roosevelt that the Portsmouth Treaty recognize Korea as a free and independent State. Nevertheless, Article I of the treaty turned Korea over to Japan. Rights of small nations at that time were not popular.

Rhee, however, battled on. He had become a Christian, had written a book, "The Spirit of Independence," while in jail. Now he studied at Harvard and Princeton, came to know Woodrow Wilson, attended the Versailles Conference, where once again he placed the plea of a small nation before the great powers.

And once again, despite his acquaintance with Wilson, he failed.

Dr. Rhee sometimes jokingly credits me with responsibility for his marriage to Francesca Donner, an Austrian lady he met while pleading his cause before the old League of Nations.

My small role in the marriage was merely the fact that when Rhee got the usual State Department runaround regarding a passport visa for Fraulein Donner to enter this country, I called the matter to Cordell Hull's attention. He promptly cut red tape. The Rhee's were married shortly thereafter and she has been beside him through the heartaches and headaches of Korea ever since.

Conquering Hero

As the Pacific phase of World War II neared its end, Dr. Syngman Rhee was living in Hawaii, as near as possible to the beloved country for which he had suffered and fought so long. After 40 years of battling for independence, Korea's great chance had come.

He returned shortly after V-J Day, to be hailed as a modern-day savior. Every political party welcomed him, offered him its support, asked him to become president—even the Communists.

Perhaps the seeds of Korea's present-day troubles started when he refused to accept Communist co-operation in his cabinet. Rhee even differed with Gen. John Hodge, U. S. commander in Korea, who wanted a compromise between the Communists and right-wing parties. But Rhee refused, started to battle the Communists from the very start.

Bitterest disappointment was the line drawn straight across Korea, cutting his liberated country in two. True, this was a matter of military expediency, arranged by Russian and American troop commanders to prevent their armies from clashing in the field.

But for a man who had spent his life working, hoping, dreaming of a free Korea, it was a bitter compromise to swallow just the same.

President Eisenhower is reported quite irate at President Rhee of late. And you can understand why. He feels the old gentleman has been inexcusably stubborn, went back on his written promise to Eisenhower that he would co-operate. He feels that Rhee jeopardized world peace, and for a time U. S. military experts were figuring on how they could overthrow Rhee by working through the American-trained South Korean army.

However, you can't really be sore at a man who has remained in jail seven years for a cause he believes in, who has had to kneel on split bamboo so long that his knees were perforated and he could hardly walk. You can't be too sore at a man who has fought longer to bring self-government to one rocky, isolated portion of the Orient than any other man living today.

The German Problem

In reply to President Eisenhower's speech of April 16, "Izvestia" publishes a long editorial explaining the fundamental differences between the United States and Soviet Russia. It is a profound document which gives an index to their future and ours. With regard to Germany, this is what "Izvestia" has to say:

"What is necessary is to conclude as speedily as possible a peace treaty with Germany, which will enable the German people to reunite in a single state and to occupy a fitting place in the commonwealth of peace-loving nations, and, following on this, to withdraw the occupation forces from Germany, whose maintenance is an additional burden on the German people."

The union of West and East Germany must beyond doubt be a part of any program for the reconstruction of Europe. The question is whether such a union can be achieved by the free suffrages of the German people or by coercion from outside. The United States desires a free, secret vote on the question by the German people, conducted by the United Nations.

Soviet Russia pretends to desire a free vote, but her armies lie on Germany like a black cloud. Suppose both sides were to agree to withdraw their troops from Germany. Ours would be withdrawn perhaps 4,000 miles away; the Russians would be a few miles away, in Poland or in Russia itself. The difference in distance controls the problem absolutely.

Furthermore, the United States has no political party of its own in Germany. As a matter of fact, it is doubtful if there is even a pro-American political party there, the Bonn government being allied but not subservient to us. The Russians have their own political party in Germany, directed by the Kremlin, part of an international conspiracy, financed, if necessary, out of the Russian treasury. In an election for a united Germany, this becomes a most potent factor.

The Russians can offer to remove their troops but not their party, for it is indigenously German and its leadership is German although its direction is Russian. We have no way, under our system, of interfering with the rights of the Germans to organize a political party, even if it is a Communist party. Thus, should the Russian troops withdraw to Poland or to Russia, the German Communist party would remain, to participate in the election, to campaign and to gather votes. As in all continental European countries some system of proportional representation prevails, the Communists out of East Germany would surely get enough votes to participate in government.

The unity of Germany can develop what military operations failed to achieve, namely, a Russian conquest of Germany to the Rhine.

One of the big problems that faces a country such as Germany, or even Italy and France, is that the middle class, the bourgeoisie, has been crushed out of existence by two wars and economic disturbances. This middle class, shopkeepers, small manufacturers, richer farmers, used to be the economic and moral backbone of these countries. They owned property and believed in such ownership. They saved money and they invested their money.

Now the situation is different. Investment capital comes in huge quantities and cheaply from governments, usually in the form of American aid. The middle class is crushed into the proletariat. Labor is the prevailing political power and even rightist political parties include some form of socialism in their program.

To these peoples, the Americans seem to be queer because they are still capitalistic.

A friend of mine was sitting in a fashionable restaurant in London eating a steak. An Englishman, more loudly than good manners permit, commented that Americans have all the money in the world and can eat steaks all the time. My friend wearied of the across-the-room conversation, rose, carried his steak to the Englishman's table, made him a present of it, and left.

This rudeness is not as abnormal as it sounds. Another friend who has just returned from France, Italy and Spain encountered the same tone. It could be called envy, but it also is a total misunderstanding of our way of life, of our high standards of living. The more they see of us, over there, apparently the more we irritate them.

Translated into terms of German unity, it can only mean that the time is not ripe to do too much without strengthening the Russian. He has the geographical advantage.

Matter Of Fact

Commencement

For the past several weeks our communities have been regaled with a pageantry of graduates from all schools and localities, featured by picture and story in the papers, parades, induction exercises, and other forms of exhibitionism.

As parents, uncles, aunts and cousins we have sat on the sidelines and with watchful pride have seen the usherettes in beautiful decolletage lead the somber gowned and hooded prize winners in stately step swinging down the aisles to the accompaniment on the great organ of "Pomp and Circumstance," to their respective places, if not in the sun, at least in the spotlight of the occasion.

The occasion is optimistically called Commencement. Rightly, it is more of an ending to those directly concerned. School is out. No more lessons ! No more cramming for examinations! No more home work! Hooray! But joy is touched with sadness of farewells, the leaving behind of such satisfying experiences as games lost and won, the jubilations after the game, the concerts, the frolics, the dates, the sparkles and ribbings of the annual—all abiding in happier memories as the years go by.

Then what? After the debris is cleared away and the caps and gowns go back to the mothballs to await the next year's crop of grads, we will all be speculating about the future of these dear young people. By the law of averages some will "accept positions," some by dint of hard labor will get a job; others, Micawber-like, will simply be "waiting for something to turn up."

It is our ardent hope that there will be no round pegs in square holes among them, or square pegs in round holes, but that each may find his fitting niche in the temple of fame.

All this fanfare has made us commencement-conscious, and the air seems thick with diplomas floating around, so that we oldsters feel like plucking one for ourselves, provided youth were thrown in for good measure. There's the rub!

It's a major concern what to do with these relics. They may be embalmed, framed or planted, in the hope that they will blossom. It has been shown that while a degree has a utilitarian importance, it is not the open-sesame to a sinecure. When you flourish your document before the cagey personnel director, he may say we are glad you know so much but if you can forget it, we'll teach you the know-how.

There is no magic carpet that can ride one through the halls of learning to any place that is worth going to. When a father once brought his son to Hiram College and asked the president, James A. Garfield, how long it would take to give him an education, the astute educator who afterwards became President of the U. S., answered: "It all depends on what you want your boy to be. If it be a mushroom, that will take six weeks. But if it's an oak, we can give him a fair start in two to four years."

If anyone deserves a "cum laude" in our school systems it is the faithful teacher who helps with his problems the pupil who is himself a problem. There are three kinds in the ranks with which she has to deal: those who expect their riches to carry them through, those who depend on their wits, and those who expect to work for what they get.

Says the first: "Why learn? When I am older I can hire someone to sign my name. And when I read the figgers on the road signs telling how far, I can always tip someone to tell me where to."

Those who expect to win by their wits play at school as they play the pinball machine, with one chance in a thousand of ever hitting the jackpot.

Those who expect to win by the sweat of their brains are the wise guys. And the big prizes of life are offered to anyone of any age, in school, or out.

Education is not a process of funneling knowledge into the brain or putting a polish on the exterior. Yon can't polish cork, and you can't get blood out of a turnip. You can buy a degree, but you can't buy education. That is possible only to those who can take it, and by its use become such personalities whose possessions consist not in what one has, but what he is.

The schools have no slide rule to tell who the valedictorians are going to be, but we all know that if one will begin where he is, and multiply that by eager desire, and multiply that by all out effort, he is likely to go places.

A certain woman called her bank about disposing of a $5 thousand bond. The president inquired: "Is it for conversion, or redemption?" Thinking she had the wrong number, she asked, "Is this the Ripplside church or the Riparian bank?"

I am sure the banker gave her sound advice and she probably followed it. But if she had called her priest or preacher she might have been advised to put the bond if she could afford it, into the Bank of Heaven, whose capital is the accumulated prayers, heart searchings, sacrificial offerings of all depositors, whose dividends are in terms of peace, joy, and the satisfaction of a clear conscience. The money thus placed would be for the conversion and redemption of men and women on a world scale.

It is hoped that the conflicting terminology was clarified between the good woman and the good bank and incidentally that we all may see the wisdom of putting more religion into our business and more business into our religion.

BROTHER BARNABAS

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON— Administration supporters are making a grave mistake in asserting that President Rhee of Korea has belatedly expressed his demands for a unification of Korea and his protest against an armistice that leaves Communist Chinese troops in North Korea.

The record shows that the Korean government consistently and constantly for the last 24 months has inveighed against any truce that would leave any Communist Chinese soldiers in North Korea. Again and again warning has been given in public utterances by the Korean president that a truce would not be approved if the Communist Chinese were not ousted from Korea.

It has not been generally known that the Korean government, although supplying the bulk of the troops, has never been permitted to be a party to the Panmunjom truce negotiations, while the North Korean government was permitted to negotiate directly.

Rhee's Position

Here is a chronology which gives a few of the many statements by President Rhee and his government concerning the very proposals for an armistice that are now about to be agreed to by the UN:

June 10, 1951 (just before first truce overtures began)—President Rhee, in an interview with the Associated Press, said: "We will do something in desperation if the United Nations should make any decision contrary to our national security."

June 12, 1951—President Rhee was reported by the Associated Press as warning against a "phony peace—any cease-fire order, negotiations, cessation or settlement that leave Korea divided by the artificial and meaningless geographical line of the 38th Parallel." Dr. Rhee said also: "The Yalu River is our objective."

June 26, 1951—An official statement by President Rhee demanded a voice in the truce talks and said: "Any proposal short of the complete reunification of the Korean peninsula will be unacceptable. This is our minimum requirement."

June 29, 1951—The Korean National Assembly unanimously adopted a resolution opposing a cease-fire until the following four conditions are met: "(1) complete disarmament of Communist aggressors; (2) withdrawal of Chinese forces north of the Yalu and Tumen Rivers; (3) complete political and territorial unification under the government of the Republic of Korea, and (4) assurance of a permanent security of the nation."

Jan. 20, 1952—Speech by President Rhee, released over television and radio to the American people: "We are very gravely concerned that the original goal of the United Nations to unify Korea will be lost sight of during the haggling at Panmunjom. We fear that too many concessions have already been made."

March 1, 1952—President Rhee, in a speech in Korea, said: "We want all our friends and our enemies alike to know that we must be permitted to utilize every possible means to survive as an independent, unified, democratic nation—even if we have to carry on the struggle alone."

May 16, 1952—President Rhee said in a speech: "How, when and by whom, may I ask, shall we expect through peaceful means to expel the Chinese from Korean soil? . . . If an army of 900,000 Chinese Communist aggressors is permitted to remain in North Korea, where none at all existed 18 months ago, we believe that fact will be interpreted on both sides of the iron curtain as a Communist success."

Communicated With U. S.

August 15, 1952—President Rhee stated in a speech: "So long as the armed and aggressive enemy remains entrenched on our soil and the seven million anti-Communist Koreans in the North are still struggling and suffering, the goal proclaimed four years ago by both our people and the United Nations remains unachieved."

September 26, 1952—President Rhee made a speech declaring that there can be "no rest until reunification has been achieved."

Coincident with all these speeches came communications to the American government outlining the same point of view.

The truce talks were broken off in October 1952 and negotiation of an agreement was not resumed until April 5, 1953. President Rhee demanded a voice in the negotiations and finally, on May 25, 1953, his "observer" boycotted the talks in protest at the effort to silence his government from making public protest. That's the chronology of how an ally who contributed most of the troops and most of the soldier casualties and who suffered the loss of many millions of its citizens was treated by the United Nations when the issue of life and death for this small country was at stake.

Hell's Canyon Dam

The Federal Power Commission must shortly decide whether a dam or dams in Hell's Canyon, a deep and narrow gorge separating eastern Oregon from western Idaho, are to be publicly or privately constructed. At stake, in addition to how much power is to be afforded—and when—are issues of flood control and irrigation.

Secretary of the Interior McKay on May 5 withdrew the long-standing opposition of his department to the application of the Idaho Power Company for permission to build three dams in the canyon. In the Truman administration the Interior Department had urged a public maximum-power, comprehensive-purpose project for Hell's Canyon.

In his statement of May 5, Secretary McKay pointed out that private industry was "ready and willing" to build in Hell's Canyon; that Congress in the past had rejected or indefinitely postponed a federal project; that it appeared doubtful whether appropriations for the federal dam could be justified at this time "in view of efforts to balance the budget." In the light of these factors, "the Department of the Interior would be playing the reprehensible part of 'a dog in the manger' if it insisted on opposing a badly needed development."

The federal plan had involved an expenditure of $559,791,000 for a dam on the Snake River in Hell's Canyon, a power plant, transmission lines and other facilities, plus an irrigation system in the vicinity of Mountain Home, Idaho, scheduled at $282,800,000. The dam would have had an ultimate installed capacity of 900,000 kilowatts.

The Idaho Power Company wants to build three smaller dams, with installed capacity of 783,000 kilowatts. Secretary McKay argues that the private project "can be on the line seven or eight years before the Hell's Canyon (federal) Dam can be in production."

Insofar as flood control is concerned, he says, "there is little to choose between the two plans." As for irrigation, "there appears to be no reason why other projects in the basin could not be used with the same logic as that proposed for Hell's Canyon." McKay concedes that the high federal dam would be somewhat more effective than the private dam in improving navigation, but calls this benefit "small in any event."

Senator Morse on the Senate floor on May 27 vigorously criticized McKay for withdrawing Interior's opposition to the private company's application. The greatest difference in time—between the construction of the private project and of the federal dam—would be five years, Morse argued, adding that the difference "could be as little as three years."

Morse cited the Interior Department's own report of 1952 to the House Interior Committee as authority for the statement that the federal dam would not only furnish 668,000 kilowatts of "firm power" to the Idaho-Oregon area, but would have reservoir capacity to augment the power of other dams by 436,000 kilowatts. As for flood control, Morse quotes the Army Corps of Engineers to the effect that the federal dam would "provide complete control of the Snake River at that point in the river," whereas the private project would fall short by 2,800,000 acre-feet.

The Atomic Breeder

Atomic Energy Chairman Gordon Dean put it this way to a group of scientists and businessmen meeting at Atlantic City: Just suppose that by burning up 100 gallons of gasoline we could change 90 gallons of water into new gasoline This is fine, but ultimately we might run out of gasoline.

Now suppose we succeeded in producing 100 or more gallons of new gasoline from water by the same process. Then we'd never run out of gasoline. And this state of affairs, once considered theoretically possible for scarce fissionable materials, now appears to be an actuality.

A team of scientists at the AEC's reactor testing station, near Idaho Falls, Idaho, have succeeded in developing an atomic power plant which, in addition to providing energy, also acts as a "breeder." In other words it produces new fuel "at least" as rapidly as fuel is consumed. The full significance is that mankind can use all the uranium which can be extracted from the earth, whether it is fissionable or not. The breeder at Idaho Falls runs on U-235, which is the rarest and the most expensive to extract from uranium-bearing ores.

This statement, which was made by coincidence on the same day that we released in Nevada the heaviest atomic blast ever recorded on this continent, is full of heartening implications. However, it doesn't mean that atomic power units are now ready to compete with coal and oil as sources of energy. In the first place, the new fuel which will be produced by the atomic power plant must be extracted by one of the most expensive processes yet known.

Considering the billions which operating atomic units are known to have cost, the price tag on this process must be astronomical. Secondly, the "breeding" is a slow process, and a plant must be in operation for about five years before it starts giving back an amount of fissionable material equal to that already consumed.

Nevertheless Dean's report shows how much closer we have come to the point where atomic energy can actually serve us docilely, and where it will soon be practical to break down the strict government monopoly on its uses and open the field to private industry.

Defending Niagara

Geologists are more or less agreed that the Niagara River began its existence after the retreat of the last ice sheet, which uncovered the present site of the Niagara Gorge. Modern man uses the ancient natural phenomenon called Niagara Falls as a source of electric power.

As a source of electric power in the industrial northeast, Niagara Falls is a prime target of atomic attack. New York state's Civil Defense Director, Lt. Gen. Huebner, reveals that Niagara is in a state of relative preparedness, due to three years of planning. "But it is still not ready to receive a bomb," asserts this officer, in a curious bit of phrasing.

The idea of Niagara Falls being set to receive an atomic bomb is one of those commentaries on the age that could give rise to all sorts of philosophic reflections. The natural grandeur that is Niagara's somehow diminished even the lethal impressiveness of the mushroom-shaped cloud of an atomic explosion. The Iroquois called Niagara "Jorakare"—thundering water.

But the preservation of natural splendor is not of concern to civil defense authorities, who are concerned, with reason, in preserving this enormous source of electric power for industries which are themselves part of the national defense structure.

How To Keep Well

'I Had A Bad Spell Last Night'

Each year we receive hundreds of questions that are so vague they cannot be answered. A common query is: "My boy has a rash. What is it and what can be done about it?" The writer of the letter may not know there are more than 2,000 different skin disorders varying from leprosy to prickly heat. Because no clews are offered there is no way of knowing what the lesion looks like.

Another example is the word "spell." A woman will say: "My aunt had a bad spell last night and the doctor wants her to go to the hospital. Do you think it is serious?" Physicians never use the word and neither do two popular medical dictionaries. Webster lists it as colloquial, meaning "a time of body discomfort and ill feeling." This is a big order and almost as vague as the word "rash."

"Spell" is an expression that has been handed down from generation to generation to describe various conditions. To some it means a period of unconsciousness resulting from a faint, fit, convulsion, blackout, or stroke. Because the word means so many different things, the physician wants to know more. One patient might allude to an epileptic seizure and another, to a heart attack. Mrs. Jones may call up and tell of a "spell" she had the night before which amounted to no more than a nauseated feeling, whereas Mr. Smith may use the word when his wife swoons on the kitchen floor. I'm not complaining but suggesting that if the patient is more specific the medico can be of more help.

Almost every one has seen a person faint. The attack usually is precipitated by poor ventilation, the sight of blood, or an emotional upset such as excitement or fear. The victim slumps to the floor with a thud and lies perfectly still. His pulse and breathing are barely perceptible and the skin is cold and ashen. He looks dead and even the expert may be in doubt for a moment. After coming to, he is weak and shaky for a while.

The epileptic seizure (fit) is different. It comes on without cause at any time of the day or night, sitting quietly in the living room or in sleep. The victim of grand mal lets out a cry, falls to the ground, and goes into convulsion associated with jerky movements of the neck, lips, and extremities. It is at such times that the tongue is bitten and foam appears at the mouth. After a few moments the body becomes rigid and then relaxes as though in sleep. Petit mal is another variety of epilepsy and is best described as a blackout. The period of unconsciousness is so brief the individual seldom falls. These are the most common "spells" in which there is loss of consciousness.

ALLEVIATING PAIN

F. G. writes: How does a brain operation relieve pain?

REPLY

Several operations in and about the brain have been devised for the relief of intractable pain. These procedures vary from cutting certain nerves to separating the front part of the brain from the remainder.

MAN'S BLOOD VOLUME

V. C. writes: How many quarts of blood does the body contain?

REPLY

From 3½ to 5½ quarts, depending upon the weight of the body.

MINERALS IN FOOD

L. P. writes: Are there any foods that do not contain minerals?

REPLY

Only pure carbohydrates and fats.

EXCESS FACIAL HAIR

W. T. writes: If a woman develops excessive hair on the face during pregnancy, will it go away after the baby is born?

REPLY

This depends upon the cause. When the growth of facial hair is purely coincidental to pregnancy, there is a good chance that it will persist. On the other hand if it is caused by a temporary glandular inbalance, it is likely to disappear after confinement. My advice is to wait and see what happens.

EATING AND ATHLETICS

D. J. writes: My young son is a wrestler who insists upon starving for 36 hours before every match to make his weight. I think this makes him weak but he disagrees. What is your opinion?

REPLY

Your boy either should wrestle at a heavier weight or lose over a period of three to six days before the match. Otherwise lack of food may lead to weakness when he most needs strength. Regardless of the weight, the athlete should include in his daily diet such basic foods as meat, cheese, fish, and eggs for protein; two or more glasses of milk, vegetables, and citrus friends, enriched whole grain breads and cereals.

WALKING IS BETTER

T. P. writes: Is it beneficial for a middle aged person who never has done anything more strenuous than walking to start exercising with bar bells, hand grips, and chest exercisers?

REPLY

This is no time to start strenuous activity. Why not walk more?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rhee May Be Causing Truce Headaches, But It's Hard To Be Angry At Him When Knowing His Steadfastness Of Purpose.

WASHINGTON — Dr. Syngman Rhee, our willful, sometimes cantankerous friend in South Korea, may be causing us truce headaches, but when you look back over the vista of his 78 years you can understand why.

During those years he has been beaten with bamboo rods daily for seven months. He has had oil paper wrapped round his wrists and then set on fire. He has had his fingers mashed so horribly that even today he blows on them to keep them warm. He has had to wear a 20-pound wooden cangue around his neck and sit with his feet and hands locked in stocks.

He has spent seven years in prison, 41 years in exile, and has had a $300,000 Japanese price put on his head. He has been rebuffed. He has been disheartened. But he has never ceased fighting for the liberty of the barren little country which is the focus of the world today.

And having staged that fight, having suffered such punishment, he is not, at the age of 78, easily persuaded to surrender.

I knew Rhee when he lived in exile in Washington, president of the so-called "Korean Republic," then occupied by soldiers of Japan, and which no one ever thought could become free gain—no one, that is, except Rhee.

Rhee's Diplomatic Record

The president-in-exile had come to this country at the age of 27 during the Portsmouth, N. H., Conference called to settle the Russo-Japanese War. Rhee, a young Republican radical recently out of prison, personally urged President Theodore Roosevelt that the Portsmouth Treaty recognize Korea as a free and independent State. Nevertheless, Article I of the treaty turned Korea over to Japan. Rights of small nations at that time were not popular.

Rhee, however, battled on. He had become a Christian, had written a book, "The Spirit of Independence," while in jail. Now he studied at Harvard and Princeton, came to know Woodrow Wilson, attended the Versailles Conference, where once again he placed the plea of a small nation before the great powers.

And once again, despite his acquaintance with Wilson, he failed.

Dr. Rhee sometimes jokingly credits me with responsibility for his marriage to Francesca Donner, an Austrian lady he met while pleading his cause before the old League of Nations.

My small role in the marriage was merely the fact that when Rhee got the usual State Department runaround regarding a passport visa for Fraulein Donner to enter this country, I called the matter to Cordell Hull's attention. He promptly cut red tape. The Rhee's were married shortly thereafter and she has been beside him through the heartaches and headaches of Korea ever since.

Conquering Hero

As the Pacific phase of World War II neared its end, Dr. Syngman Rhee was living in Hawaii, as near as possible to the beloved country for which he had suffered and fought so long. After 40 years of battling for independence, Korea's great chance had come.

He returned shortly after V-J Day, to be hailed as a modern-day savior. Every political party welcomed him, offered him its support, asked him to become president—even the Communists.

Perhaps the seeds of Korea's present-day troubles started when he refused to accept Communist co-operation in his cabinet. Rhee even differed with Gen. John Hodge, U. S. commander in Korea, who wanted a compromise between the Communists and right-wing parties. But Rhee refused, started to battle the Communists from the very start.

Bitterest disappointment was the line drawn straight across Korea, cutting his liberated country in two. True, this was a matter of military expediency, arranged by Russian and American troop commanders to prevent their armies from clashing in the field.

But for a man who had spent his life working, hoping, dreaming of a free Korea, it was a bitter compromise to swallow just the same.

President Eisenhower is reported quite irate at President Rhee of late. And you can understand why. He feels the old gentleman has been inexcusably stubborn, went back on his written promise to Eisenhower that he would co-operate. He feels that Rhee jeopardized world peace, and for a time U. S. military experts were figuring on how they could overthrow Rhee by working through the American-trained South Korean army.

However, you can't really be sore at a man who has remained in jail seven years for a cause he believes in, who has had to kneel on split bamboo so long that his knees were perforated and he could hardly walk. You can't be too sore at a man who has fought longer to bring self-government to one rocky, isolated portion of the Orient than any other man living today.

The German Problem

In reply to President Eisenhower's speech of April 16, "Izvestia" publishes a long editorial explaining the fundamental differences between the United States and Soviet Russia. It is a profound document which gives an index to their future and ours. With regard to Germany, this is what "Izvestia" has to say:

"What is necessary is to conclude as speedily as possible a peace treaty with Germany, which will enable the German people to reunite in a single state and to occupy a fitting place in the commonwealth of peace-loving nations, and, following on this, to withdraw the occupation forces from Germany, whose maintenance is an additional burden on the German people."

The union of West and East Germany must beyond doubt be a part of any program for the reconstruction of Europe. The question is whether such a union can be achieved by the free suffrages of the German people or by coercion from outside. The United States desires a free, secret vote on the question by the German people, conducted by the United Nations.

Soviet Russia pretends to desire a free vote, but her armies lie on Germany like a black cloud. Suppose both sides were to agree to withdraw their troops from Germany. Ours would be withdrawn perhaps 4,000 miles away; the Russians would be a few miles away, in Poland or in Russia itself. The difference in distance controls the problem absolutely.

Furthermore, the United States has no political party of its own in Germany. As a matter of fact, it is doubtful if there is even a pro-American political party there, the Bonn government being allied but not subservient to us. The Russians have their own political party in Germany, directed by the Kremlin, part of an international conspiracy, financed, if necessary, out of the Russian treasury. In an election for a united Germany, this becomes a most potent factor.

The Russians can offer to remove their troops but not their party, for it is indigenously German and its leadership is German although its direction is Russian. We have no way, under our system, of interfering with the rights of the Germans to organize a political party, even if it is a Communist party. Thus, should the Russian troops withdraw to Poland or to Russia, the German Communist party would remain, to participate in the election, to campaign and to gather votes. As in all continental European countries some system of proportional representation prevails, the Communists out of East Germany would surely get enough votes to participate in government.

The unity of Germany can develop what military operations failed to achieve, namely, a Russian conquest of Germany to the Rhine.

One of the big problems that faces a country such as Germany, or even Italy and France, is that the middle class, the bourgeoisie, has been crushed out of existence by two wars and economic disturbances. This middle class, shopkeepers, small manufacturers, richer farmers, used to be the economic and moral backbone of these countries. They owned property and believed in such ownership. They saved money and they invested their money.

Now the situation is different. Investment capital comes in huge quantities and cheaply from governments, usually in the form of American aid. The middle class is crushed into the proletariat. Labor is the prevailing political power and even rightist political parties include some form of socialism in their program.

To these peoples, the Americans seem to be queer because they are still capitalistic.

A friend of mine was sitting in a fashionable restaurant in London eating a steak. An Englishman, more loudly than good manners permit, commented that Americans have all the money in the world and can eat steaks all the time. My friend wearied of the across-the-room conversation, rose, carried his steak to the Englishman's table, made him a present of it, and left.

This rudeness is not as abnormal as it sounds. Another friend who has just returned from France, Italy and Spain encountered the same tone. It could be called envy, but it also is a total misunderstanding of our way of life, of our high standards of living. The more they see of us, over there, apparently the more we irritate them.

Translated into terms of German unity, it can only mean that the time is not ripe to do too much without strengthening the Russian. He has the geographical advantage.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

Commencement

For the past several weeks our communities have been regaled with a pageantry of graduates from all schools and localities, featured by picture and story in the papers, parades, induction exercises, and other forms of exhibitionism.

As parents, uncles, aunts and cousins we have sat on the sidelines and with watchful pride have seen the usherettes in beautiful decolletage lead the somber gowned and hooded prize winners in stately step swinging down the aisles to the accompaniment on the great organ of "Pomp and Circumstance," to their respective places, if not in the sun, at least in the spotlight of the occasion.

The occasion is optimistically called Commencement. Rightly, it is more of an ending to those directly concerned. School is out. No more lessons ! No more cramming for examinations! No more home work! Hooray! But joy is touched with sadness of farewells, the leaving behind of such satisfying experiences as games lost and won, the jubilations after the game, the concerts, the frolics, the dates, the sparkles and ribbings of the annual—all abiding in happier memories as the years go by.

Then what? After the debris is cleared away and the caps and gowns go back to the mothballs to await the next year's crop of grads, we will all be speculating about the future of these dear young people. By the law of averages some will "accept positions," some by dint of hard labor will get a job; others, Micawber-like, will simply be "waiting for something to turn up."

It is our ardent hope that there will be no round pegs in square holes among them, or square pegs in round holes, but that each may find his fitting niche in the temple of fame.

All this fanfare has made us commencement-conscious, and the air seems thick with diplomas floating around, so that we oldsters feel like plucking one for ourselves, provided youth were thrown in for good measure. There's the rub!

It's a major concern what to do with these relics. They may be embalmed, framed or planted, in the hope that they will blossom. It has been shown that while a degree has a utilitarian importance, it is not the open-sesame to a sinecure. When you flourish your document before the cagey personnel director, he may say we are glad you know so much but if you can forget it, we'll teach you the know-how.

There is no magic carpet that can ride one through the halls of learning to any place that is worth going to. When a father once brought his son to Hiram College and asked the president, James A. Garfield, how long it would take to give him an education, the astute educator who afterwards became President of the U. S., answered: "It all depends on what you want your boy to be. If it be a mushroom, that will take six weeks. But if it's an oak, we can give him a fair start in two to four years."

If anyone deserves a "cum laude" in our school systems it is the faithful teacher who helps with his problems the pupil who is himself a problem. There are three kinds in the ranks with which she has to deal: those who expect their riches to carry them through, those who depend on their wits, and those who expect to work for what they get.

Says the first: "Why learn? When I am older I can hire someone to sign my name. And when I read the figgers on the road signs telling how far, I can always tip someone to tell me where to."

Those who expect to win by their wits play at school as they play the pinball machine, with one chance in a thousand of ever hitting the jackpot.

Those who expect to win by the sweat of their brains are the wise guys. And the big prizes of life are offered to anyone of any age, in school, or out.

Education is not a process of funneling knowledge into the brain or putting a polish on the exterior. Yon can't polish cork, and you can't get blood out of a turnip. You can buy a degree, but you can't buy education. That is possible only to those who can take it, and by its use become such personalities whose possessions consist not in what one has, but what he is.

The schools have no slide rule to tell who the valedictorians are going to be, but we all know that if one will begin where he is, and multiply that by eager desire, and multiply that by all out effort, he is likely to go places.

A certain woman called her bank about disposing of a $5 thousand bond. The president inquired: "Is it for conversion, or redemption?" Thinking she had the wrong number, she asked, "Is this the Ripplesside church or the Riparian bank?"

I am sure the banker gave her sound advice and she probably followed it. But if she had called her priest or preacher she might have been advised to put the bond if she could afford it, into the Bank of Heaven, whose capital is the accumulated prayers, heart searchings, sacrificial offerings of all depositors, whose dividends are in terms of peace, joy, and the satisfaction of a clear conscience. The money thus placed would be for the conversion and redemption of men and women on a world scale.

It is hoped that the conflicting terminology was clarified between the good woman and the good bank and incidentally that we all may see the wisdom of putting more religion into our business and more business into our religion.

BROTHER BARNABAS

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON— Administration supporters are making a grave mistake in asserting that President Rhee of Korea has belatedly expressed his demands for a unification of Korea and his protest against an armistice that leaves Communist Chinese troops in North Korea.

The record shows that the Korean government consistently and constantly for the last 24 months has inveighed against any truce that would leave any Communist Chinese soldiers in North Korea. Again and again warning has been given in public utterances by the Korean president that a truce would not be approved if the Communist Chinese were not ousted from Korea.

It has not been generally known that the Korean government, although supplying the bulk of the troops, has never been permitted to be a party to the Panmunjom truce negotiations, while the North Korean government was permitted to negotiate directly.

Rhee's Position

Here is a chronology which gives a few of the many statements by President Rhee and his government concerning the very proposals for an armistice that are now about to be agreed to by the UN:

June 10, 1951 (just before first truce overtures began)—President Rhee, in an interview with the Associated Press, said: "We will do something in desperation if the United Nations should make any decision contrary to our national security."

June 12, 1951—President Rhee was reported by the Associated Press as warning against a "phony peace—any cease-fire order, negotiations, cessation or settlement that leave Korea divided by the artificial and meaningless geographical line of the 38th Parallel." Dr. Rhee said also: "The Yalu River is our objective."

June 26, 1951—An official statement by President Rhee demanded a voice in the truce talks and said: "Any proposal short of the complete reunification of the Korean peninsula will be unacceptable. This is our minimum requirement."

June 29, 1951—The Korean National Assembly unanimously adopted a resolution opposing a cease-fire until the following four conditions are met: "(1) complete disarmament of Communist aggressors; (2) withdrawal of Chinese forces north of the Yalu and Tumen Rivers; (3) complete political and territorial unification under the government of the Republic of Korea, and (4) assurance of a permanent security of the nation."

Jan. 20, 1952—Speech by President Rhee, released over television and radio to the American people: "We are very gravely concerned that the original goal of the United Nations to unify Korea will be lost sight of during the haggling at Panmunjom. We fear that too many concessions have already been made."

March 1, 1952—President Rhee, in a speech in Korea, said: "We want all our friends and our enemies alike to know that we must be permitted to utilize every possible means to survive as an independent, unified, democratic nation—even if we have to carry on the struggle alone."

May 16, 1952—President Rhee said in a speech: "How, when and by whom, may I ask, shall we expect through peaceful means to expel the Chinese from Korean soil? . . . If an army of 900,000 Chinese Communist aggressors is permitted to remain in North Korea, where none at all existed 18 months ago, we believe that fact will be interpreted on both sides of the iron curtain as a Communist success."

Communicated With U. S.

August 15, 1952—President Rhee stated in a speech: "So long as the armed and aggressive enemy remains entrenched on our soil and the seven million anti-Communist Koreans in the North are still struggling and suffering, the goal proclaimed four years ago by both our people and the United Nations remains unachieved."

September 26, 1952—President Rhee made a speech declaring that there can be "no rest until reunification has been achieved."

Coincident with all these speeches came communications to the American government outlining the same point of view.

The truce talks were broken off in October 1952 and negotiation of an agreement was not resumed until April 5, 1953. President Rhee demanded a voice in the negotiations and finally, on May 25, 1953, his "observer" boycotted the talks in protest at the effort to silence his government from making public protest. That's the chronology of how an ally who contributed most of the troops and most of the soldier casualties and who suffered the loss of many millions of its citizens was treated by the United Nations when the issue of life and death for this small country was at stake.

New Celanese Yarn Wins Home Product Award

Celaperm, new colored yarn being produced solely by Celanese Corporation at its Amcelle Plant, has won one of the five 1953 Trail Blazer awards given by the Home Fashions League in New York City.

The awards are given each year in recognition of "genuine departure in the design and styling of contemporary home furnishings," according to an International News Service dispatch received here today.

The awards, given to two fabrics, a wallpaper, a carpet, and new textured earthware, were confined to new products placed on the open market during the current season.

Celaperm was developed mainly at Amcelle Plant by Celanese researchers after many years of work. Intense production of the new yarn began about a year ago.

Permanent pigment is mixed into cellulose acetate dope before it reaches the spinning machines.

A visit to the spinning department at Amcelle Plant finds brilliant colored strands of yarn being wound on bobbins. Celaperm's the first to provide colorfastness in acetate.

R. Finley Thompson, plant manager, said any color can be made. This yarn is light fast and does not have the fading of the normal organic dyes.

For many years the only method of dyeing Acetate was after the yarn has been spun into cloth.

This new method eliminates this dyeing operation as the yarn is already colored to the request of the buyer.

Thompson termed Celaperm as "top quality merchandise."

Other winners were:

"Weatherfoil" insulated decorative drapery chintz by F. Schumacher and Company, New York; C. H. Masland & Sons' "Saranette," the first floorcovering ever woven entirely of the practically stainproof and moth-proof Saran fiber yarns; "Capistrano" and "Tweed-Tex" earthenware by Red Wing potteries, both of which feature a linen-like texture; and "Flower Stand" wallpaper by James Kemble Mills Inc. of San Francisco, a wallpaper which offers a "do-it-yourself" feature with an outline pattern that the housewife can paint with her own choice of colors.

CHEAPEST REOPENING

IF THE bidding has reached the stage where your pass would close it, leaving your opponents in a low part-score contract they can make, you of course hate to give up. But if you are vulnerable, you also hate to stick your neck out with a bid which may be doubled and badly set. In these circumstances usually the cheapest and safest reopening device is the takeout double. It is not based solely on your own strength, but on its combination with modest assets in your partner's hand, proclaimed to you by the opponents' willingness to pass at a low level.

Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Pass

The key action in that sequence was East's double. Until then the opponents were on their way to a nice little part score. North's pass of the 2-Diamonds, however, told East that his own partner must have a few useful cards. He had no idea where they were. If he had contested the situation with a bid, he might have guessed the wrong suit, at very heavy cost. The double, however, put the choice up to West. His heart bid sounded more than musical to East.

When North took a goodly chance of being too high with his 3-Diamonds, East now confidently raised to 3-Hearts. That was made with only two tricks lost in spades and one each in the minors, giving East-West a neat part-score. Notice that, if the opponents had overcalled that, they might have been doubled and roundly thrashed.

The run for the onions.

The Bermuda three pow-wow conference is subject to alterations without charge. Including the French Premier.

If, and when, the amicable beach-heads are established we figure to fix the course of history. Until the next conference.

This business of pre-digested history was broached by Shickelgruber when he popped off in 1939, "I shall fix the course of civilization for the next thousand years."

We owe Adolph nine hundred and ninety-five years. He did it in five. Par for the course.

Premier Rene Mayer of France had accepted the invitation to nod at Bermuda. But going to the office one morning he found somebody had changed the lock on the henhouse door.

Last week we dialed in on some of Churchill's inspired static. The old master was playing it for laughs.

So maybe Bob Taft is as correct as society manners when he says we should trade it all in for a good game of solitaire.

camps have swept out the old, evacuated barracks, slapped on a coat of paint and ordered GIs to move in with their families.

This, however, has worked an unforeseen hardship on some GIs, who have been forced to sell expensive trailers which the Army had encouraged them to buy.

Over 125,000 GI families have been living in trailers, for the support of which the Army pays them the regular quarters allowance. Now, under Wilson's new order to use World War II barracks, this allowance has been withdrawn.

As a result some Army regulars at Fort Bragg, N. C., have resigned rather than take a loss on their trailers, and Secretary of the Army Stevens has asked Fort Bragg to hold up the order moving GI families from trailers into barracks, until he can look into it.

Rome's Coliseum accommodated some 100,000 spectators, 87,000 of whom were seated.

The average heart of a human adult weighs a little more than one-half pound.

for the children of dead heroes of World War II and the Korean conflict. He said the Eagles activities include service to civic groups community and the nation.

Kimble also mentioned the FOE's Crusade For Freedom in spreading its principles to other lands.

In telling of the future work of the Eagles, Kimble pointed to Mike Mansfield of Montana who has introduced a bill in the U. S. Senate at the request of M. L. Brown, administrative director of FOE to have inscribed on postage stamps, "In God We Trust." The purpose of this, he said, is to show other nations that the United States is a nation of religion in a fight against Communism.

The state senator explained to delegates how the FOE led the fight to get Social Security. "We feel that a man has a right to live in his own home with some old age compensation," he said. He said the Eagles have not stopped with Social Security but are out to get steady employment and an annual wage for all men.

Another phase of Kimble's talk was devoted to the fact that the Eagles at all times bring before the public the responsibilities as citizens and the right to vote. He stressed the FOE's big part in getting out the vote during the recent election.

Grand Lodge Speaker

Another address was given by Norman J. Gidley, vice president of the Grand Lodge, FOE, who talked on the accomplishments and future of the organization on the local, state and national levels.

He pointed out that the FOE has sponsored a drive against cancer and has turned over a total of $400,000 to the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research. Funds for the drive this year now total almost $130,000.

Other accomplishments include building the entrance to the Chaplain's Memorial Chapel in Philadelphia, building dormitories for Boy's Town, raising $25,000 by members for the fight against muscular dystrophy, establishment of an Eagles National Life Insurance Company owned wholly by members, promoting and sponsoring Mother's Day, and donations to the recent Holland Flood Relief Drive.

He also pointed out some of the accomplishments of local and state Aeries across the nation.

Delegates yesterday also heard various committee reports. Total figures from the Aeries included $395 for polio, tuberculosis, cancer and crippled children funds, $110 to aid youth, schools and education, $510 for Christmas baskets, etc., $810 for youth activities, and $460 for athletics and recreation.

The Cumberland Aerie also donated its home for the monthly visits of the Red Cross's bloodmobile unit in its Blood Program.

Another phase of Kimble's talk was devoted to the fact that the Eagles at all times bring before the public the responsibilities as citizens and the right to vote. He stressed the FOE's big part in getting out the vote during the recent election.

Grand Lodge Speaker

Another address was given by Norman J. Gidley, vice president of the Grand Lodge, FOE, who talked on the accomplishments and future of the organization on the local, state and national levels.

He pointed out that the FOE has sponsored a drive against cancer and has turned over a total of $400,000 to the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research. Funds for the drive this year now total almost $130,000.

Other accomplishments include building the entrance to the Chaplain's Memorial Chapel in Philadelphia, building dormitories for Boy's Town, raising $25,000 by members for the fight against muscular dystrophy, establishment of an Eagles National Life Insurance Company owned wholly by members, promoting and sponsoring Mother's Day, and donations to the recent Holland Flood Relief Drive.

He also pointed out some of the accomplishments of local and state Aeries across the nation.

Delegates yesterday also heard various committee reports. Total figures from the Aeries included $395 for polio, tuberculosis, cancer and crippled children funds, $110 to aid youth, schools and education, $510 for Christmas baskets, etc., $810 for youth activities, and $460 for athletics and recreation.

The Cumberland Aerie also donated its home for the monthly visits of the Red Cross's bloodmobile unit in its Blood Program.

Keyser's Mayor Names Guy Clem As Police Chief

John C. Freeland, mayor-elect of Keyser, yesterday named Guy Clem, present city patrolman, as temporary chief of police to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Harry Gift as Police Chief.

Clem's appointment is dependent on his being granted a leave of absence both from the Keyser Police Department and by the Civil Service Commission as his position as chief is a political appointment.

Upon approval of the Mayor and Council of the appointment and the granting of the leave from the Civil Service Commission so Clem will not lose his benefits gained while serving the past several years as a patrolman on the Keyser force, Clem will take over the job on a temporary basis.

Civil Service examinations will be taken to provide applicants for the vacancy created by Clem on the police force.

WASHINGTON, June 12 (INS)—Union Chief John L. Lewis declared today that the natural gas which private firms propose to store underground in the coal mining areas of Western Pennsylvania "constitute more destructive energy than the atomic or hydrogen bombs."

St. Patrick's Final Reunion Plans Completed

Rev. John M. Coulehan, MM, who has been heading the reunion of students who attended St. Patrick's Parochial School between 1907 and 1923, yesterday announced that orchids would be distributed to all who will attend the reunion breakfast following the 8:30 a. m. mass Sunday.

Father Coulehan said the orchids were sent him by another priest who is stationed in the Hawaiian Islands. They are of the vanda type and he estimated there were between 300 and 400 in the group he received. The vanda type, Father Coulehan explained, are of a small variety and are appropriate for lapels.

The breakfast will be served in the Social Center of the parish and so far, approximately 200 have indicated their intentions of attending the breakfast. Father Coulehan will be toastmaster of the breakfast program which will be conducted in an informal manner. There will be no formal talks but each person will be expected to at least stand and identify himself.

William C. Walsh, local attorney, will be toastmaster for the dinner Sunday at 6 p. m. at the Elks Club, South Centre Street, which will highlight the reunion.

The principal talks at the dinner will be by Mrs. Mary Shaffer Jones, whose subject will be "I Remember," and by Jack Welsh, a Washington attorney, who will reminisce on schoolday incidents. A brief talk will also be made by Peter J. Carpenti, local attorney.

Hardesty, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Lincoln Lynch, John Kreidler, Joseph Webb, Joseph Footen and Joseph Challinor.

Etching Hobby Leads U. S. Official To Prison

BALTIMORE, June 12 (AP) — A $10,000-a-year administrative officer in the Department of Agriculture was sentenced today to a year in prison because his hobby—etching—included a try at reproducing $10 bills.

Martin Thomas Storey, 47, of Oxon Hill, Md., said he didn't intend to try passing his counterfeits for the real thing.

Miss Mary Ellen Watson, 52-year old clerk in Storey's office and enamored of her boss, was put on probation for a year. She had bought blank copper engraving plate for him and watched him do the photographic and engraving work while visiting him on weekends, testimony showed.

Evangelical And Reformed Church Synod Elects Dr. F. T. Eyster

FREDERICK, Md., June 12 (AP)—Dr. Frederick T. Eyster of Hagerstown has been elected president of the Potomac Synod, Evangelical and Reformed Church.

He succeeds the Rev. Arthur W. Newell of Richmond, Va. as head of the Synod embracing some 20,000 members in Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia and West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle.

Other new officers include: Dr. Henry Koch, Washington, vice-president; The Rev. Frank Bostian, Baltimore, secretary; Henry W. Schumpheis, Baltimore, treasurer; and R. B. Alexander, Harrisonburg, Va., lay member of the Synodical Council.

Delegates to the Synod's annual spring meeting at Hood College here also named the following to the Board of Examiners: The Rev. J. Wade Huffman, Clear Spring, Md.; Dr. Timothy Lehman, Edinburg, Va.; The Rev. Arthur Newell, Richmond, Va.; and John Rausenberger, Baltimore.

Members were also chosen for the various committees of the Synod.

Committee reports and elections highlighted the second day of the annual session. Further committee reports are scheduled tomorrow with adjournment expected by noon.

Earlier today delegates heard a report that their denomination is growing and studied proposals to revamp its administrative organization.

The Rev. Dr. John D. Lentz of Norristown, Pa., a member of the church's general council, reported 12 new congregations have been formed in various sections of the country in the past year.

Church membership, Sunday School enrollments, and giving for missionary work all have increased, he said.

The denomination maintains 129 missionaries in foreign lands, he recounted. The work in China has been at a standstill since the Reds succeeded in capturing power, but missionary work in Japan and Africa has been expanded.

Proposals for reorganization of the denomination were put forward by a national committee. They are being discussed by each of the 34 synods throughout the nation, after a study by synod committees.

Whether the proposals shall be adopted, or adopted in altered form, will be discussed at the general conference later this month in Tiffin, O.

One of the proposals cals for the naming of "area presidents" to head the various synods or areas. The creation of such an office—corresponding roughly to a bishop in other denominations—would be something quite different for the Evangelical and Reformed brotherhood.

The Potomac Synod, which opened its three-day meeting at Hood College here Wednesday, is made up of 160 congregations in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, and the eastern panhandle of West Virginia.

Father Coulehan said the orchids were sent him by another priest who is stationed in the Hawaiian Islands. They are of the vanda type and he estimated there were between 300 and 400 in the group he received. The vanda type, Father Coulehan explained, are of a small variety and are appropriate for lapels.

The principal talks at the dinner will be by Mrs. Mary Shaffer Jones, whose subject will be "I Remember," and by Jack Welsh, a Washington attorney, who will reminisce on schoolday incidents. A brief talk will also be made by Peter J. Carpenti, local attorney.

Entertainment will include selections by the Glee Club of Catholic Girls Central High School and also by a group headed by Norman P. Fearnow and including Rev. Thomas A. Hardesty, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Lincoln Lynch, John Kreidler, Joseph Webb, Joseph Footen and Joseph Challinor.

The invocation and benediction will be pronounced by Father Coulehan. The program for the dinner will carry the names and addresses of approximately 600 former students of St. Patrick's grammar school and holy cards will be distributed as souvenirs of the affair.

Etching Hobby Leads U. S. Official To Prison

BALTIMORE, June 12 (AP) — A $10,000-a-year administrative officer in the Department of Agriculture was sentenced today to a year in prison because his hobby—etching—included a try at reproducing $10 bills.

Martin Thomas Storey, 47, of Oxon Hill, Md., said he didn't intend to try passing his counterfeits for the real thing.

Miss Mary Ellen Watson, 52-year old clerk in Storey's office and enamored of her boss, was put on probation for a year. She had bought blank copper engraving plate for him and watched him do the photographic and engraving work while visiting him on weekends, testimony showed.

Evangelical And Reformed Church Synod Elects Dr. F. T. Eyster

FREDERICK, Md., June 12 (AP)—Dr. Frederick T. Eyster of Hagerstown has been elected president of the Potomac Synod, Evangelical and Reformed Church.

He succeeds the Rev. Arthur W. Newell of Richmond, Va. as head of the Synod embracing some 20,000 members in Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia and West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle.

Other new officers include: Dr. Henry Koch, Washington, vice-president; The Rev. Frank Bostian, Baltimore, secretary; Henry W. Schumpheis, Baltimore, treasurer; and R. B. Alexander, Harrisonburg, Va., lay member of the Synodical Council.

Delegates to the Synod's annual spring meeting at Hood College here also named the following to the Board of Examiners: The Rev. J. Wade Huffman, Clear Spring, Md.; Dr. Timothy Lehman, Edinburg, Va.; The Rev. Arthur Newell, Richmond, Va.; and John Rausenberger, Baltimore.

Members were also chosen for the various committees of the Synod.

Committee reports and elections highlighted the second day of the annual session. Further committee reports are scheduled tomorrow with adjournment expected by noon.

Earlier today delegates heard a report that their denomination is growing and studied proposals to revamp its administrative organization.

The Rev. Dr. John D. Lentz of Norristown, Pa., a member of the church's general council, reported 12 new congregations have been formed in various sections of the country in the past year.

Church membership, Sunday School enrollments, and giving for missionary work all have increased, he said.

The denomination maintains 129 missionaries in foreign lands, he recounted. The work in China has been at a standstill since the Reds succeeded in capturing power, but missionary work in Japan and Africa has been expanded.

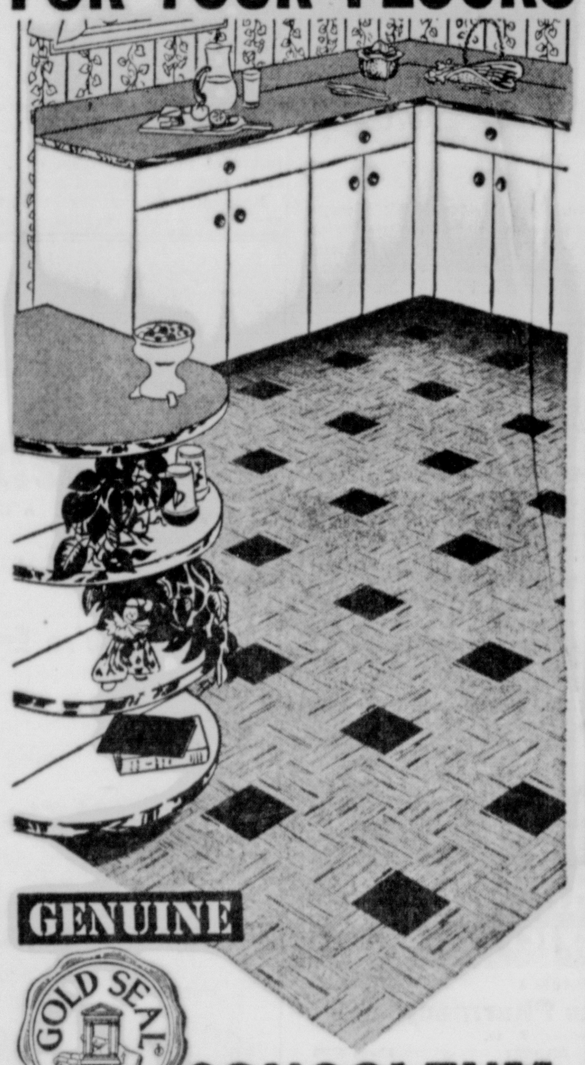

Proposals for reorganization of the denomination were put forward by a national committee. They are being discussed by each of the 34 synods throughout the nation, after a study by synod committees.

Whether the proposals shall be adopted, or adopted in altered form, will be discussed at the general conference later this month in Tiffin, O.

One of the proposals calls for the naming of "area presidents" to head the various synods or areas. The creation of such an office—corresponding roughly to a bishop in other denominations—would be something quite different for the Evangelical and Reformed brotherhood.

The Potomac Synod, which opened its three-day meeting at Hood College here Wednesday, is made up of 160 congregations in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, and the eastern panhandle of West Virginia.

Murky City Water Due To Damaged Clearwell, Recent Rains

If the water coming out of spigot is murky these days, don't worry about it,—it's pure.

City Water Department officials said yesterday the recent heavy rains in the vicinity of Lake Gordon and Lake Koon have made the water muddy.

As repairs have not been completed on the damaged clearwell, at the filter plant at Lake Gordon, the water does not have a chance to stand.

The clearwell when in use holds the water before it is released into the mains leading to Cumberland.

Several months ago the bottom fell about eight feet after it had been undermined by leaking water. The George F. Hazelwood Company which has installed new filters at the plant is making the repairs.

The clearwell will be completed next week, according to George M. Hitchcock, water plant superintendent.

Instead of being held in the clearwell and giving the sediment a chance to settle through the aid of alum, the filtered water is dumped immediately into the mains.

The condition is clearing up, Hitchcock said. However, the water is pure from a health standpoint and is properly chlorinated.

When the new filters and the clearwell work is completed, the new building will be dedicated in an informal ceremony, Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday.

Between now and that time Hitchcock will be in charge of flushing and sterilizing both the new filters and the clearwell.

Simultaneously with the inauguration of the use of the new filters, will be the first use of the fluorinator.

This device will deposit sodium fluoride in city water to help stop the decay of children's teeth.

County To Close Bridge For Repair Work

NURSE RESIGNS—Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, R. N., of 708 Shriver Avenue, a public health nurse for Allegany County, has submitted her resignation effective June 19, to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer. She has been a public health nurse for approximately five years and prior to that worked at the Kelly - Springfield Tire Company and did health work in Anne Arundel and Garrett counties.

A bridge across a small stream at Green Ridge Station in the eastern part of the county will be closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, according to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor.

Chapman informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that the bridge, which is on the Kasecamp Road, is in a bad state of repair. The structure has a wooden deck and stringers. The stringers will be replaced with steel and a new wood deck laid. The bridge has a 30 foot span and is 16 feet wide.

William H. Lemmert, board president, gave a report to Commissioners James Holmes and James Orr of a recent inspection of the site of a new road into the Mt. Savage School.

Attending the inspection were Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county schools; G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission; Chapman and a representative of the SRC headquarters in Baltimore.

A discussion was held on the possibility of moving the location of one part of the road near the school so as to provide a larger area for the school playground. After a thorough check of the cost involved in relation to the benefits, the county, SRC and school officials came to the conclusion the move would not be justified.

If the roadway would have been changed from the one originally decided upon it would have meant the purchase or removal of a dwelling, cutting away of a hillside and a 60 foot fill. The grade of the roadway at that point would also have been very steep, Lemmert said.

Lemmert said that the original estimates of the cost of the project, $140,000, will have to be revised upward. The cost will probably be in the neighborhood of $250,000, he said.

Leslie Brothers Recaptured In Mason, Georgia

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., June 12 (AP) — Two brothers who escaped from the Howard County jail May 19 after slamming a cell door against the elderly turnkey are back behind bars, it was learned tonight.

State Police said Woodrow Leslie, 35, and Michael Leslie, 28—both formerly of Cumberland — were recaptured in Mason, Ga. early this week in a car stolen in Baltimore May 21. They have been returned here.

Two other brothers escaped in the same break. One of them, Albert Smith, 34, of Baltimore, was recaptured the following day.

Still at large is his brother, Robert, 54, also of Baltimore.

The Leslies were awaiting trial on charges of burglarizing a filling station.

Local Mailman Finds Dollar Bill Stamped, Addressed

The person who tried to mail a dollar to a man in Pittsburgh simply by pasting a three-cent stamp on the upper right hand corner of the bill and inking the address on it may be sorry he tried the novel stunt.

Officials at the Cumberland Post Office reported one of the carriers emptied a box on Baltimore Street and found the addressed bill.

It is the first time any thing like this has been encountered here but the Post Office Department and the government has a rule to cover any incident.

A check of the regulations find that the sender is liable for arrest for defacing U. S. currency.

Club 88 Files License Appeal

An appeal was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Club 88, Inc., against a decision of the Board of License Commissioners in refusing to grant them a Class C beer, wine and liquor permit for premises on Christie Road.

The appeal, docketed by William R. Carscaden, attorney for the club, states that the decision of the board in sustaining a remonstrance against the club was against the public interest. It was also claimed the discretion of the board in rendering its decision was "not honestly and fairly exercised" and was arbitrary.

Carscaden said the decision was unsupported by any substantial evidence and was unreasonable and that such decision was beyond the powers of the license commissioners.

Chapman informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that the bridge, which is on the Kasecamp Road, is in a bad state of repair. The structure has a wooden deck and stringers. The stringers will be replaced with steel and a new wood deck laid. The bridge has a 30 foot span and is 16 feet wide.

William H. Lemmert, board president, gave a report to Commissioners James Holmes and James Orr of a recent inspection of the site of a new road into the Mt. Savage School.

Attending the inspection were Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county schools; G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission; Chapman and a representative of the SRC headquarters in Baltimore.

A discussion was held on the possibility of moving the location of one part of the road near the school so as to provide a larger area for the school playground. After a thorough check of the cost involved in relation to the benefits, the county, SRC and school officials came to the conclusion the move would not be justified.

If the roadway would have been changed from the one originally decided upon it would have meant the purchase or removal of a dwelling, cutting away of a hillside and a 60 foot fill. The grade of the roadway at that point would also have been very steep, Lemmert said.

Lemmert said that the original estimates of the cost of the project, $140,000, will have to be revised upward. The cost will probably be in the neighborhood of $250,000, he said.

Leslie Brothers Recaptured In Mason, Georgia

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., June 12 (AP) — Two brothers who escaped from the Howard County jail May 19 after slamming a cell door against the elderly turnkey are back behind bars, it was learned tonight.

State Police said Woodrow Leslie, 35, and Michael Leslie, 28—both formerly of Cumberland — were recaptured in Mason, Ga. early this week in a car stolen in Baltimore May 21. They have been returned here.

Two other brothers escaped in the same break. One of them, Albert Smith, 34, of Baltimore, was recaptured the following day.

Still at large is his brother, Robert, 54, also of Baltimore.

The Leslies were awaiting trial on charges of burglarizing a filling station.

Local Mailman Finds Dollar Bill Stamped, Addressed

The person who tried to mail a dollar to a man in Pittsburgh simply by pasting a three-cent stamp on the upper right hand corner of the bill and inking the address on it may be sorry he tried the novel stunt.

Officials at the Cumberland Post Office reported one of the carriers emptied a box on Baltimore Street and found the addressed bill.

It is the first time any thing like this has been encountered here but the Post Office Department and the government has a rule to cover any incident.

A check of the regulations find that the sender is liable for arrest for defacing U. S. currency.

Club 88 Files License Appeal

An appeal was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Club 88, Inc., against a decision of the Board of License Commissioners in refusing to grant them a Class C beer, wine and liquor permit for premises on Christie Road.

The appeal, docketed by William R. Carscaden, attorney for the club, states that the decision of the board in sustaining a remonstrance against the club was against the public interest. It was also claimed the discretion of the board in rendering its decision was "not honestly and fairly exercised" and was arbitrary.

Carscaden said the decision was unsupported by any substantial evidence and was unreasonable and that such decision was beyond the powers of the license commissioners.

Take Someone To Church This Week . . . You'll Both Be Richer For It

TO INSURE PUBLICATION in Saturday's paper, all church notices must be in The Cumberland News office by 11 o'clock each Thursday night.

GOD'S MASTERPIECE?

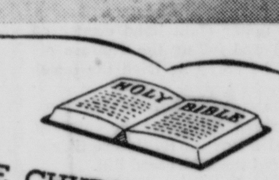

The rose comes very close to man's standard of perfection. Its delicate beauty seems to mock every effort of the artist or camera to capture it.

But is the rose really God's masterpiece? Hardly!

For its beauty is passive. It brightens life only for those who seek it out and gaze upon it. And in but a few days it withers and is ugly.

God's masterpiece is MAN. For with all his waywardness and selfishness, Man is capable of reflecting the love of God. When he lets God touch his life he is able to bring happiness and faith to others. He doesn't have to wait until he is noticed. He can actively bring spiritual blessings to his fellow men.

As the gardener cultivates the rose, the Church cultivates the lives of men. Always it strives to help us become all that God wants us to be.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Take Someone To Church This Week . . . You'll Both Be Richer For It

TO INSURE PUBLICATION in Saturday's paper, all church notices must be in The Cumberland News office by 11 o'clock each Thursday night.

GOD'S MASTERPIECE?

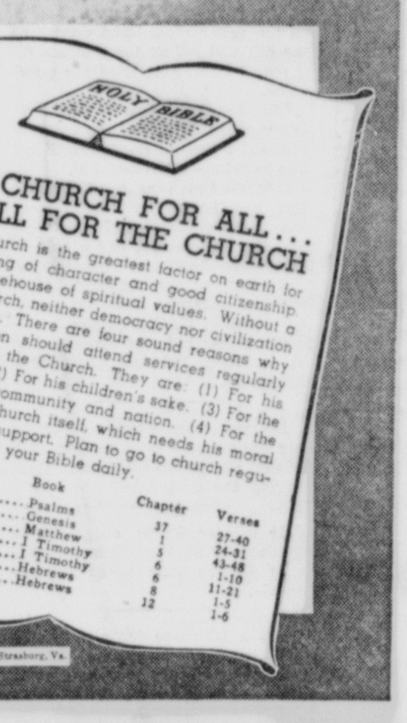

The rose comes very close to man's standard of perfection. Its delicate beauty seems to mock every effort of the artist or camera to capture it.

But is the rose really God's masterpiece? Hardly!

For its beauty is passive. It brightens life only for those who seek it out and gaze upon it. And in but a few days it withers and is ugly.

God's masterpiece is MAN. For with all his waywardness and selfishness, Man is capable of reflecting the love of God. When he lets God touch his life he is able to bring happiness and faith to others. He doesn't have to wait until he is noticed. He can actively bring spiritual blessings to his fellow men.

As the gardener cultivates the rose, the Church cultivates the lives of men. Always it strives to help us become all that God wants us to be.

To pass away dull moments, play this word game to help make you a fascinating conversationalist!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Listen to any woman who is admired by all and you'll discover she takes as much care in choosing her words as she does in the color she wears. As she talks, you get a crystal-clear mental picture of her ideas, desires, wit, experiences or flights of imagination. There is nothing fuzzy about the images she projects! Her words always reflect her exact shade meaning.

You have to have plenty of words handy if you want to impress your listeners in such pleasant and attractive fashion. And the collecting of a large and workable vocabulary can be both interesting and entertaining. Here's one of the ways:

Make It a Game

In an idle moment (or when your hands are occupied but not your mind) think, for instance, of some girl you have known all your life. How would you describe her to an imaginary group of friends? To say she has blonde hair, blue eyes and is tall and slim would be a poor try—it would leave your listeners unimpressed. Thousands and thousands of girls could fit that banal description. Make us see your friend!

Is her hair honey or ash blonde? Are her eyes aquamarine or sky blue? How tall, how slim—like a willow or a frond? And what about her face — piquant, patrician, classic, serious, haughty? Her manner of dress is a distinguishing point that you'll want to picture. And her more pronounced personality traits certainly must not be lightly passed over.

It's not the number of words you use; it's choosing the right ones. Since raconteurs are bores, there's a limit on how long you can hold attention even with exciting, choice words.

Well-Stocked Vocabulary

If you play this little game with yourself regularly, always using a new and more difficult subject, soon you'll find your vocabulary expanding, bulging with words just waiting to be plucked to express exactly what you think or wish to say.

The most brilliant words lose their luster, however, when delivered in a flat, harsh, squeaky, shaky or nasal tone. The accomplished conversationalist tries to match the shadings of her words with shadings in her voice. Right along with your word-collecting, why not also improve your voice? All you need to know is found in our easy-to-follow booklet, "Your most Attractive Voice." To get your copy see the instructions just below.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. On The Line

by Bob Considine

LONDON, June 12 (INS)—London letter:

The British newspapers had a little difficulty getting back to the critical attitude toward the U. S., after the rose-colored fantasy of the coronation. But they made it. All of them landed with both feet on Uncle Sam for defacing coronation film telecasts with commercials. They were as indignant as if they themselves had piously flung advertisements out of their own coronation editions.

The Express topped them all with a picture of the chimpanzee that stars on Dave Garroway's morning show on NBC. A quick reading of the head and the caption gave one the impression that Garroway had crowned the chimp in a bald burlesque of the coronation ceremony. Turned out otherwise, in the body of the story. But it must have made a lot of British people pretty sore. Especially the quick readers.

The British soon will have commercial TV, and then they will know the necessity of the commercial. And the occasional pang. Their printed advertisements are a great deal sappier than ours. It can be presumed their TV plugs also will be.

"What's My Line?" is a big hit on BBC. It's coronation week program featured Arlene Francis, from the original American show, and she was excellent—considering the fact that one of the guests was a "flint knapper" and another a "lipstick polisher."

The mystery guest was an equal strain on the sharpness of an American visitor. He was Sir Don Bradman, Australia's top cricket batsman.

On the BBC version of the popular American show, the guests "mimic" their occupations. The "lipstick polisher," for example, made a back-and-forth motion with her hand, indicating, she explained later, the process of passing the lipstick through a flame to polish it. Miss Francis smiled wanly as if suddenly in need of the sunshine of John Daly's grin.

The hostile attitude of some of the British papers, and that rancid anti-U. S. manner of the Bevanites, is in sharp contrast to the obvious idolatry the British people show for U. S. film and stage stars, and our popular music.

Only American music is played in the London night clubs and restaurant casinos. The Paladium, one of the country's largest theatres, is packed nightly for shows that are as American as ham and eggs.

Johnny Ray killed them here. So did Sinatra. So did Danny Thomas. So are the Kean sisters and Jackie Miles—now at the Paladium—and so will Abbott and Costello, Martin and Lewis, Bob Hope, and other American acts scheduled for the summer. I sometimes think the Paladium is doing more to keep the two countries friendly than the respective foreign offices.

The dust finally has settled on a nasty little dispute over here concerning an article in the Express by Patricia Ford, member of Parliament. In describing the ladies resting room in Parliament Member Ford wrote that two of her colleagues, Mrs. Bessie Braddock and Dr. Edith Summerskill, were found there not only sleeping during a long session but snoring.

Well, sir, Commons was shaken to its core. Clement Davies, chairman of the committee of privileges, called the paper and asked:

"Do you have an arbiter on taste?"

The man said no.

"Pity!" thundered Davies.

There was a hearing before the committee. The ghost writer of the piece and the assistant editor of the Express apologized. Mrs. Ford apologized to the whole house. Apologies piled on apologies. But all came out well in the end. Mrs. Ford no longer writes, and the newsmen concerned escaped being confined (as they could have been) to the clock tower.

Building Unions Protest School Construction Bids

Officials of several AFL Building and Construction Trades Council appeared at a meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to register a protest in connection with bids on school construction work in the county.

F. Patrick Allender, spokesman for the unionists, told the board that advertisements for bids on school projects did not provide for the payment of prevailing wages for this area. He said this could lead to contractors from other states bidding on jobs and then paying lower than the scale. This would only result in trouble between the contractors and unions, Allender said.

William H. Lemmert, board president, told Allender and the other union officials that the commissioners have nothing to do with bids on school building projects. The commissioners are required to furnish the money to operate the school system and issue bonds for new construction, but they have no say in connection with the school system other than that.

Allender said he realizes the commissioners had no jurisdiction in letting bids on school projects but the AFL groups wanted to make their position known.

Lemmert also pointed out that all bids let by the commissioners for construction or repairs to county institutions or roads contain the prevailing wage clause.

Allender said the AFL unions will seek a meeting with the Board of Education next Tuesday to discuss the problem.

Nearly one-half of the private homes in the county London — which includes all the central districts of the British capital — are without bathrooms.

Baucom Appointed School Principal

Thomas V. Baucom, administrative assistant and acting principal at Southern High School at Oakland, has been appointed principal at Denton High School in Caroline County.

Baucom plans to visit the school next week for a conference. He will remain here for the balance of the month, straightening the records and preparing next term's schedule of classes.

Baucom for several years was principal at Kitzmiller High School and was moved into the Southern High School last fall. He and his family reside in Kitzmiller.

To pass away dull moments, play this word game to help make you a fascinating conversationalist!

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Listen to any woman who is admired by all and you'll discover she takes as much care in choosing her words as she does in the color she wears. As she talks, you get a crystal-clear mental picture of her ideas, desires, wit, experiences or flights of imagination. There is nothing fuzzy about the images she projects! Her words always reflect her exact shade meaning.

You have to have plenty of words handy if you want to impress your listeners in such pleasant and attractive fashion. And the collecting of a large and workable vocabulary can be both interesting and entertaining. Here's one of the ways:

Make It a Game

In an idle moment (or when your hands are occupied but not your mind) think, for instance, of some girl you have known all your life. How would you describe her to an imaginary group of friends? To say she has blonde hair, blue eyes and is tall and slim would be a poor try—it would leave your listeners unimpressed. Thousands and thousands of girls could fit that banal description. Make us see your friend!

Is her hair honey or ash blonde? Are her eyes aquamarine or sky blue? How tall, how slim—like a willow or a frond? And what about her face — piquant, patrician, classic, serious, haughty? Her manner of dress is a distinguishing point that you'll want to picture. And her more pronounced personality traits certainly must not be lightly passed over.

It's not the number of words you use; it's choosing the right ones. Since raconteurs are bores, there's a limit on how long you can hold attention even with exciting, choice words.

Fairgo's 29th Annual Race Meeting Opens Today 2 P. M.

Inaugurated In 1944, Three Past "Champs" Among Riders Here

With a "full house" of approximately 450 thoroughbreds available from which to select his starting fields and a riding colony of 25 on hand to vie for the Harvey Jewelry Company's gold wrist watch, J. Fred Colwill, racing secretary, last night announced that everything is in readiness for today's opening of the Cumberland Fair Association's 29th annual race meeting at Fairgo.

J. Fred Colwill

Post time is 2 p. m., EDT., and those planning to wager on the "Daily Double" must do so each day before the windows close at 1:45 o'clock.

Past Winners To Ride

Lando "Sixty" Bressan, Colwill's assistant, reports that there are 450 racers stabled at the local plant while George McKewen, custodian, announces that the riding colony includes three past Fairgo winners, namely, Mike Sorrentino (1952), Emilio Carrillo (1947) and Danny Scocca (1941), also Donald Teague, the 1952 runner-up, Willie Clark, Patsy Grant, Eugene Denny, Willie Davis, Jimmy Fitzgerald, Woody Kirk, D. Saunders, F. Young, J. Mimento, Ray Arduini, E. Dosher and others.

This is the first Saturday opening date in the 29-year history of racing at the local half miler, and wagering will be compared with last year's first Saturday when the handle was $227,575. Since 1925 Tuesday always has been opening day at Fairgo. This year's meet also ends on a Wednesday (June 24) instead of on Saturday as in past years.

White Purse Feature

Today's feature event is the Clifton W. White Purse, the seventh event on the program, named in honor of the former president and general manager of the local association, who will be a spectator. The White was inaugurated in 1944 and today's race marks the tenth running.

Eight three-year-olds and upward, headed by Triflin' Neibor, winner of the $7,500 Memorial Handicap at Wheeling on May 30, are slated to go postward in the $1,000 event. Other eligibles include Sea Level, Many Gifts, Sassy Shirl, Songai, Direct Tint, Vinci Belle and Hardiness. This allowance event will be over the route of a mile and a sixteenth.

Bill Fisher has a crew of 140 here to handle the wagering and association officials are hopeful that the handle will better the 1952 mark of $1,889,754, the lowest recorded here in nine years.

Fairgo Notes

J. Fred Colwill is serving as racing secretary here for the fourth straight year.

Colwill was director of racing here in 1949 when "Ty" Shea was secretary. He became Fairgo's 5th secretary in 1950. His predecessors were Shea (1948-49); John Turner, Jr. (1947); Bill Shewbridge (1946) and Eddie Brennan who served the first 21 years (1925-1945).

Here's a complete lineup of Fairgo's official family:

J. Richard Long, 1019 Bedford Street, has Bridle Path, Miss Comedy and Thrifty Pat, which he owns, and Crutches, owned by S. A. Evans, Cresaptown.

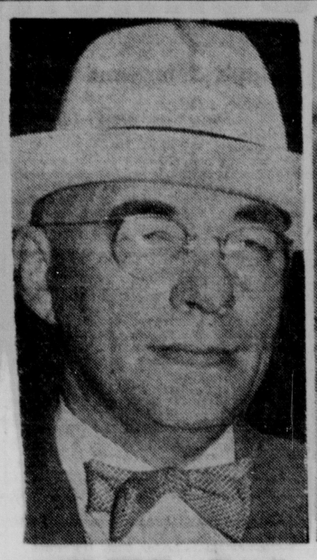

Enoch P. Price and his son Enoch W. (Junior) of Frostburg sent four here for the races. They are Mr. Frostburg, Busy Beacon, Melissa W. and Hunter's Glory.

The Prices got into the money five times here last year and earned $1,150 in purses. Mr. Frostburg's win netted $700 of that amount. Twigg won $150 with Grand Piper which finished third and fourth in two starts.

TRAINER—H. C. "Pete" Allnutt, of Rockville, Md., is conditioner for one of the largest thoroughbred strings quartered at Fairgo. There are an even dozen bangtails under his supervision, including New Fashion, a good 5-year-old filly. His father, E. C. Allnutt, raced on the 1909 circuit that included Hagerstown, Frederick, Culpepper and Cumberland. The Allnutts owned Meet Me Now, which set two records at Marlboro seven years ago and whipped the "Queens" of the half milers, Lawless Miss, thrice, and Annie's Dream, once. The Brookmeade Stable offered $25,000 for Meet Me Now. The horse was sold for $10,000 to E. M. Warner and dropped dead two weeks later. "Pete" first raced here in 1945.

MAKES DEBUT — Edgar H. "Buck" Reynolds, former city councilman and local cigar store proprietor, makes his bow as general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association today as the 10-day race meeting gets underway at Fairgo. Reynolds served as assistant to former manager Harry E. Flook who was forced to step down on account of illness. Reynolds is the association's fifth general manager since Fairgo was opened in 1924. He was preceded by Virgil C. Powell, Harry A. Manley, Clifton W. White and Flook.

NEW CUSTODIAN — George McKewen, of Baltimore, makes his bow as custodian of the jockeys' room when the Cumberland Fair Association race meeting opens today. He has been associated with racing for 12 years and served as assistant to Johnny Bejshak here last year. Bejshak will be a patrol judge for the current meeting after serving for three years as jockeys' custodian.

Yanks Purchase Willie Miranda

New York Pays About $10,000 For Shortstop

CLEVELAND, June 12 (AP) — The New York Yankees tonight purchased shortstop Willie Miranda from the St. Louis Browns for about $10,000. The 27-year old infielder, who has played with Washington and Chicago as well as the Browns, will report to Manager Casey Stengel tomorrow here. A player will be released to make room for him, probably a pitcher.

Miranda, one of the most-traded men in the game, has been with the White Sox twice as well as the Nats and St. Louis in the last two seasons. A switch hitter, but a weak one, the Cuban will be used as insurance against the injury of Phil Rizzuto. Miranda batted only .211 last year.

His purchase ends the Yankees' efforts to purchase Eddie Joost, shortstop of the Philadelphia Athletics, after a month of negotiating.

Miranda has been in 17 games this year as a utility infielder and pinch runner with the Browns this year. He has one hit in six times at bat.

Carter Stops George Araujo In 13th Round

New Yorker Retains Lightweight Title In Garden Contest

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Jimmy Carter, moving ever onward with stolid face and cut right eye, crumpled toe-dancing George Araujo with his solid body punching tonight to hold his world lightweight championship by a technical knockout victory in 2:16 of the 13th round at Madison Square Garden.

Referee Al Berl signalled an end to the contest as the 22-year-old challenger from Providence, R.I., sunk to the floor under a thumping right that doubled him up. The 29-year-old champ from New York twice floored Araujo for counts of two and three in a ninth round explosion that broke the fight wide open.

This was a startling turn of events to the crowd of 7,132 paying $36,511 to see the nationally televised event.

Up to the ninth, Araujo was leading on the official cards. But that numbing bombing took all the spring from his legs. He never again was able to do more than flick punches at the advancing champion until he could move no longer.

Referee Al Berl and Judge Harold Barnes scored it 7-5 in favor of Carter up to the 13th. Judge Bert Grant had it 8-4 for Carter. The AP card agreed with Grant.

Shirai To Defend Title In October

TOKYO, June 12 (INS) — World Flyweight Champion Yoshio Shirai will defend his title in October against Terry Allen of England.

The International Promotions Ltd., handling Shirai's matches, announced today the fight will be staged in Tokyo and that the contract will be signed in the near future.

This will be the third title defense for the Japanese champion since he won it from Dado Marino of Honolulu last year.

Shirai successfully defended his crown last month when he took a 15-round decision over Tanny Campo of the Philippines in a close match.

The champion is scheduled to visit the U. S. next month to meet Baby Moe Mario of Reno, Nev., in a non-title match.

In his only trip abroad to date, Shirai fought Marino in Honolulu in 1951.

Bill Hanekamp outpitched Ronnie Winters to give the Times-News a 3-1 decision over the Lions Club in a Hot Stove Baseball League game yesterday at Stitcher Field.

Hanekamp yielded four hits, fanned 15, failed to issue a pass and hit one batsman. Winters struck out six, gave up six hits, and hit two batters.

The Newsies of Manager Howard Northcraft garnered five extra base wallops—four doubles and a triple. Capt. Joe Cioni paced the stickers with a triple and one-base knock.

Buddy Campbell featured at short for the Lions, handling six chances, including several hard ones, without a slipup.

The Times-News scored a run in the second on doubles by Hanekamp and Paul Sheehe and added another run in the third on Cioni's three-base blow and Ronnie Diehl's double. Sterner singled, pilfered second and third and scored the Lions' lone tally on Knippenberg's infield out in the third. A double play nipped this rally in the bud.

In the 7th Jerry McGreevy doubled, Dave Durst was hit by a pitched ball, McGreevy pilfered third and after Sheehe fanned Jerry scored the Newsies' final tally when Jimmy Beck squeezed him home.

Manager Sherman Weatherholt's Jaycees exploded for six runs in the 6th to eke out a 7-6 verdict over the Rotary Club at Allegany Field.

During the big sixth the Jaycees got only one hit but four errors, two walks and an infield out paved the way for the six tallies.

Hogan Leads By Two Strokes Over Snead, Fazio At Oakmont

Ben Sets Pace At 139, Mangrum, Herbert 4th, Boros Trails At 147

By WILL GRIMSLEY

OAKMONT, Pa., June 12 (AP)—Golf's imperturbable little master, Ben Hogan, showed signs of weakening today and a couple of hardened old pros jarred his early grip on the 53rd National Open golf championship.

In an exhausting, frustrating round which lasted four hours and 50 minutes, the grim three-time champion scrambled home with a second round 72, even par, which gave him a halfway score of 139.

Right on his heels two strokes back—with two taxing rounds scheduled tomorrow for the showdown—are socking Sam Snead, one of Hogan's longtime adversaries, and the veteran George Fazio, a perennial threat in this blue ribbon classic.

Snead Shoots 69

The unpredictable Snead, who can reach heights of greatness but who has never won an Open, sank an 80-foot pitch shot on the final green for a three-under-par 69, which brought the Slammer three strokes nearer the lead.

The 40-year-old Fazio, who with Lloyd Mangrum lost a playoff to Hogan for the title in 1950, added a steady 71 to a previous 70. He is ready to jump in the moment the pace-setter falters.

In fourth place at 143 came another old campaigner, Mangrum, the 1946 champion, who fashioned a 70 for the second round. Jay Hebert, a surprise contender from Erie, Pa., and former assistant pro for 27 years, with 145.

Followed by the bulk of a swarming, rope-tearing crowd of 10,000 Hogan turned in an erratic 36-36 over the 6,916-yard, par 37-35—72 Oakmont course. Regarded as the greatest putter in the game, he three-putted two greens and had trouble with his irons.

Hogan, who won this title in 1948, 1950 and 1951, looked tired as he trudged to the clubhouse after his slow round.

Asked if he was weary, he replied:

"Well, not as tired as I was Friday night last year at Dallas."

Hogan took a similar two-stroke lead into the final day a year ago only to lose his hold and watch the championship go to a rank outsider, Julius Boros.

Boros Trails By Eight

Boros, the forgotten man of this 53rd tournament, matched Hogan's round with a par 72, despite some faulty putting, but found himself eight strokes back at 147.

Tied with him were four well-known tournament pros—little Jerry Barber, Freddie Haas, Jimmy Demaret and Ted Kroll.

The field tomorrow will be reduced from its present 150 to the low 50's and ties for that position. The cutoff point was 153, so players shooting that and under qualified for the final rounds.

Barely making it at 153 were such top figures as Jim Turnesa, the PGA champion; Ed (Porky) Oliver, the 1952 runnerup; former champion Lawson Little and Australian Peter Thomson.

The casualties—the boys who didn't make it—included two-time champion Gene Sarazen, Johnny Revolta, Vic Ghezzi, Smiley Quick, Tommy Bolt, Ed Furgol, Paul Runyan and two former British amateur champions, Dick Chapman and Harvie Ward.

Locke Qualifies At 148

The British Open champion, Bobby Locke, came in with one of the day's best rounds, a 70, to qualify easily at 148, but he remarked succinctly in his British accent:

"I think I have shot myself out of this one."

Inaugurated In 1944, Three Past "Champs" Among Riders Here

With a "full house" of approximately 450 thoroughbreds available from which to select his starting fields and a riding colony of 25 on hand to vie for the Harvey Jewelry Company's gold wrist watch, J. Fred Colwill, racing secretary, last night announced that everything is in readiness for today's opening of the Cumberland Fair Association's 29th annual race meeting at Fairgo.

J. Fred Colwill

Post time is 2 p. m., EDT., and those planning to wager on the "Daily Double" must do so each day before the windows close at 1:45 o'clock.

Past Winners To Ride

Lando "Sixty" Bressan, Colwill's assistant, reports that there are 450 racers stabled at the local plant while George McKewen, custodian, announces that the riding colony includes three past Fairgo winners, namely, Mike Sorrentino (1952), Emilio Carrillo (1947) and Danny Scocca (1941), also Donald Teague, the 1952 runner-up, Willie Clark, Patsy Grant, Eugene Denny, Willie Davis, Jimmy Fitzgerald, Woody Kirk, D. Saunders, F. Young, J. Mimento, Ray Arduini, E. Dosher and others.

This is the first Saturday opening date in the 29-year history of racing at the local half miler, and wagering will be compared with last year's first Saturday when the handle was $227,575. Since 1925 Tuesday always has been opening day at Fairgo. This year's meet also ends on a Wednesday (June 24) instead of on Saturday as in past years.

White Purse Feature

Today's feature event is the Clifton W. White Purse, the seventh event on the program, named in honor of the former president and general manager of the local association, who will be a spectator. The White was inaugurated in 1944 and today's race marks the tenth running.

Eight three-year-olds and upward, headed by Triflin' Neibor, winner of the $7,500 Memorial Handicap at Wheeling on May 30, are slated to go postward in the $1,000 event. Other eligibles include Sea Level, Many Gifts, Sassy Shirl, Songai, Direct Tint, Vinci Belle and Hardiness. This allowance event will be over the route of a mile and a sixteenth.

Bill Fisher has a crew of 140 here to handle the wagering and association officials are hopeful that the handle will better the 1952 mark of $1,889,754, the lowest recorded here in nine years.

Fairgo Notes

J. Fred Colwill is serving as racing secretary here for the fourth straight year.

Colwill was director of racing here in 1949 when "Ty" Shea was secretary. He became Fairgo's 5th secretary in 1950. His predecessors were Shea (1948-49); John Turner, Jr. (1947); Bill Shewbridge (1946) and Eddie Brennan who served the first 21 years (1925-1945).

Here's a complete lineup of Fairgo's official family:

Racing Secretary—J. Fred Colwill.

Stewards—Joseph F. Flanagan, William L. Harron and A. Charles Stewart.

Placing Judges—Henry Carroll, Lando (Sixty) Bressan and Eugene T. Gunning.

Jockey' Custodian—George McKewen.

Starter—Harry Palmer.

Paddock Judge—Merrall MacNeille.

Horse Identifier—Henry Denty.
Clerk of Scales—James Ferris.
Director of Wagering — Bill Fisher.

Three stables at Fairgo are in charge of Allegany county trainers.

John L. Twigg of LaVale has Lanna Lee, Sir Toro, Grand Piper and Wave Set.

J. Richard Long, 1019 Bedford Street, has Bridle Path, Miss Comedy and Thrifty Pat, which he owns, and Crutches, owned by S. A. Evans, Cresaptown.

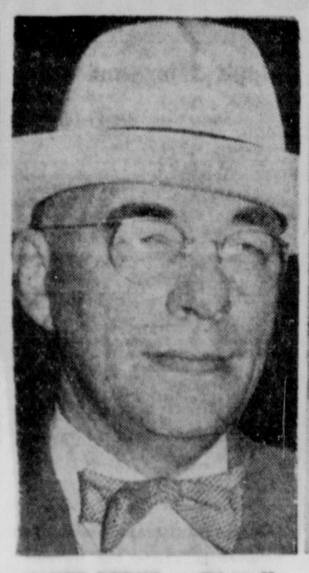

Enoch P. Price and his son Enoch W. (Junior) of Frostburg sent four here for the races. They are Mr. Frostburg, Busy Beacon, Melissa W. and Hunter's Glory.

The Prices got into the money five times here last year and earned $1,150 in purses. Mr. Frostburg's win netted $700 of that amount. Twigg won $150 with Grand Piper which finished third and fourth in two starts.

TRAINER—H. C. "Pete" Allnutt, of Rockville, Md., is conditioner for one of the largest thoroughbred strings quartered at Fairgo. There are an even dozen bangtails under his supervision, including New Fashion, a good 5-year-old filly. His father, E. C. Allnutt, raced on the 1909 circuit that included Hagerstown, Frederick, Culpepper and Cumberland. The Allnutts owned Meet Me Now, which set two records at Marlboro seven years ago and whipped the "Queens" of the half milers, Lawless Miss, thrice, and Annie's Dream, once. The Brookmeade Stable offered $25,000 for Meet Me Now. The horse was sold for $10,000 to E. M. Warner and dropped dead two weeks later. "Pete" first raced here in 1945.

MAKES DEBUT — Edgar H. "Buck" Reynolds, former city councilman and local cigar store proprietor, makes his bow as general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association today as the 10-day race meeting gets underway at Fairgo. Reynolds served as assistant to former manager Harry E. Flook who was forced to step down on account of illness. Reynolds is the association's fifth general manager since Fairgo was opened in 1924. He was preceded by Virgil C. Powell, Harry A. Manley, Clifton W. White and Flook.

NEW CUSTODIAN — George McKewen, of Baltimore, makes his bow as custodian of the jockeys' room when the Cumberland Fair Association race meeting opens today. He has been associated with racing for 12 years and served as assistant to Johnny Bejshak here last year. Bejshak will be a patrol judge for the current meeting after serving for three years as jockeys' custodian.

Yanks Purchase Willie Miranda

New York Pays About $10,000 For Shortstop

CLEVELAND, June 12 (AP) — The New York Yankees tonight purchased shortstop Willie Miranda from the St. Louis Browns for about $10,000. The 27-year old infielder, who has played with Washington and Chicago as well as the Browns, will report to Manager Casey Stengel tomorrow here. A player will be released to make room for him, probably a pitcher.

Miranda, one of the most-traded men in the game, has been with the White Sox twice as well as the Nats and St. Louis in the last two seasons. A switch hitter, but a weak one, the Cuban will be used as insurance against the injury of Phil Rizzuto. Miranda batted only .211 last year.

His purchase ends the Yankees' efforts to purchase Eddie Joost, shortstop of the Philadelphia Athletics, after a month of negotiating.

Miranda has been in 17 games this year as a utility infielder and pinch runner with the Browns this year. He has one hit in six times at bat.

Carter Stops George Araujo In 13th Round

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Jimmy Carter, moving ever onward with stolid face and cut right eye, crumpled toe-dancing George Araujo with his solid body punching tonight to hold his world lightweight championship by a technical knockout victory in 2:16 of the 13th round at Madison Square Garden.

Referee Al Berl signalled an end to the contest as the 22-year-old challenger from Providence, R.I., sunk to the floor under a thumping right that doubled him up. The 29-year-old champ from New York twice floored Araujo for counts of two and three in a ninth round explosion that broke the fight wide open.

This was a startling turn of events to the crowd of 7,132 paying $36,511 to see the nationally televised event.

Up to the ninth, Araujo was leading on the official cards. But that numbing bombing took all the spring from his legs. He never again was able to do more than flick punches at the advancing champion until he could move no longer.

Referee Al Berl and Judge Harold Barnes scored it 7-5 in favor of Carter up to the 13th. Judge Bert Grant had it 8-4 for Carter. The AP card agreed with Grant.

Pete Elliott with a homer and single, Jim Kienhofer with a pair of two-baggers and Lou Riehl with a double and single paced the Eagles at the plate while Jim Rice contributed the fielding gem in left field, a one-handed stab of Underdonk's bid for a home run with a mate aboard.

Shirai To Defend Title In October

TOKYO, June 12 (INS) — World Flyweight Champion Yoshio Shirai will defend his title in October against Terry Allen of England.

The International Promotions Ltd., handling Shirai's matches, announced today the fight will be staged in Tokyo and that the contract will be signed in the near future.

The champion is scheduled to visit the U. S. next month to meet Baby Moe Mario of Reno, Nev., in a non-title match.

In his only trip abroad to date, Shirai fought Marino in Honolulu in 1951.

Hanekamp yielded four hits, fanned 15, failed to issue a pass and hit one batsman. Winters struck out six, gave up six hits, and hit two batters.

The Newsies of Manager Howard Northcraft garnered five extra base wallops—four doubles and a triple. Capt. Joe Cioni paced the stickers with a triple and one-base knock.

Buddy Campbell featured at short for the Lions, handling six chances, including several hard ones, without a slipup.

The Times-News scored a run in the second on doubles by Hanekamp and Paul Sheehe and added another run in the third on Cioni's three-base blow and Ronnie Diehl's double. Sterner singled, pilfered second and third and scored the Lions' lone tally on Knippenberg's infield out in the third. A double play nipped this rally in the bud.

In the 7th Jerry McGreevy doubled, Dave Durst was hit by a pitched ball, McGreevy pilfered third and after Sheehe fanned Jerry scored the Newsies' final tally when Jimmy Beck squeezed him home.

Manager Sherman Weatherholt's Jaycees exploded for six runs in the 6th to eke out a 7-6 verdict over the Rotary Club at Allegany Field.

During the big sixth the Jaycees got only one hit but four errors, two walks and an infield out paved the way for the six tallies.

Ben Sets Pace At 139, Mangrum, Herbert 4th, Boros Trails At 147

By WILL GRIMSLEY

OAKMONT, Pa., June 12 (AP)—Golf's imperturbable little master, Ben Hogan, showed signs of weakening today and a couple of hardened old pros jarred his early grip on the 53rd National Open golf championship.

In an exhausting, frustrating round which lasted four hours and 50 minutes, the grim three-time champion scrambled home with a second round 72, even par, which gave him a halfway score of 139.

Right on his heels two strokes back—with two taxing rounds scheduled tomorrow for the showdown—are socking Sam Snead, one of Hogan's longtime adversaries, and the veteran George Fazio, a perennial threat in this blue ribbon classic.

Snead Shoots 69

The unpredictable Snead, who can reach heights of greatness but who has never won an Open, sank an 80-foot pitch shot on the final green for a three-under-par 69, which brought the Slammer three strokes nearer the lead.

The 40-year-old Fazio, who with Lloyd Mangrum lost a playoff to Hogan for the title in 1950, added a steady 71 to a previous 70. He is ready to jump in the moment the pace-setter falters.

In fourth place at 143 came another old campaigner, Mangrum, the 1946 champion, who fashioned a 70 for the second round. Jay Hebert, a surprise contender from Erie, Pa., and former assistant pro for 27 years, with 145.

Followed by the bulk of a swarming, rope-tearing crowd of 10,000 Hogan turned in an erratic 36-36 over the 6,916-yard, par 37-35—72 Oakmont course. Regarded as the greatest putter in the game, he three-putted two greens and had trouble with his irons.

Hogan, who won this title in 1948, 1950 and 1951, looked tired as he trudged to the clubhouse after his slow round.

Asked if he was weary, he replied:

"Well, not as tired as I was Friday night last year at Dallas."

Hogan took a similar two-stroke lead into the final day a year ago only to lose his hold and watch the championship go to a rank outsider, Julius Boros.

Boros Trails By Eight

Boros, the forgotten man of this 53rd tournament, matched Hogan's round with a par 72, despite some faulty putting, but found himself eight strokes back at 147.

Tied with him were four well-known tournament pros—little Jerry Barber, Freddie Haas, Jimmy Demaret and Ted Kroll.

The field tomorrow will be reduced from its present 150 to the low 50's and ties for that position. The cutoff point was 153, so players shooting that and under qualified for the final rounds.

Barely making it at 153 were such top figures as Jim Turnesa, the PGA champion; Ed (Porky) Oliver, the 1952 runnerup; former champion Lawson Little and Australian Peter Thomson.

The casualties—the boys who didn't make it—included two-time champion Gene Sarazen, Johnny Revolta, Vic Ghezzi, Smiley Quick, Tommy Bolt, Ed Furgol, Paul Runyan and two former British amateur champions, Dick Chapman and Harvie Ward.

Locke Qualifies At 148

The British Open champion, Bobby Locke, came in with one of the day's best rounds, a 70, to qualify easily at 148, but he remarked succinctly in his British accent:

"I think I have shot myself out of this one."

Eight Colts Are Nominated For 85th Belmont Stakes Today

Native Dancer Favored To Win At Odds Of 1-4

Jamie K 2nd Choice, Bassanio, Bob O Boy, The Preem Long Shots

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP) — The names of eight colts, three of them long shot surprises, went into the entry box for the 85th running of the Belmont Stakes tomorrow, but it still appears a two or three horse race with Native Dancer the one to beat.

Whereas Belmont officials had been expecting only four or five starters for the mile and one half three-year-old classic, they found themselves with Ogden Phipps' Bassanio, A. J. Fralinger's Bob O Boy, and The Preem, property of Bandleader Louis Prima.

If all eight go, and it seems entirely possible one or more of the surprises might be late scratches, this Belmont would be the richest ever since Ruthless copped the inaugural in 1867.

Winner May Get $84,500

And, if all eight owners desire to see their colors tomorrow when they spring the starting gates at 3:45 p.m., (EST). They'll have to dig up $1,000 apiece. If they do, the pot will total $120,600 with the winner netting $84,500 compared to the record $82,400 collected by One Count last year. Even with six starters, tomorrow's big race would be worth $100 more than One Count's.

Native Dancer, Alfred Vanderbilt's colorful grey galloper, rules the odds-on favorite at probable odds of 1 to 4. The Dancer, winner of 13 of his 14 starts, is expected to get his main opposition from the Spring Hill Farm's Jamie K., who made Vanderbilt's ace go all out to win the Preakness by a neck three weeks ago.

Many seem to think Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem can mix it up with the top two, and possibly get away with the swag in one of the most talked off Belmonts in its long history.

The other two who had been expected all along, until the trio of interlopers intruded, are Bruce S. Campbell's Ram O'War and the King Ranch's Kamehameha.

A Two-Horse Duel

To most observers, however, the race seems to be a duel between Jockey Eric Guerin aboard Native Dancer and Eddie Arcaro, who hopes to nab his sixth Belmont with Jamie K.

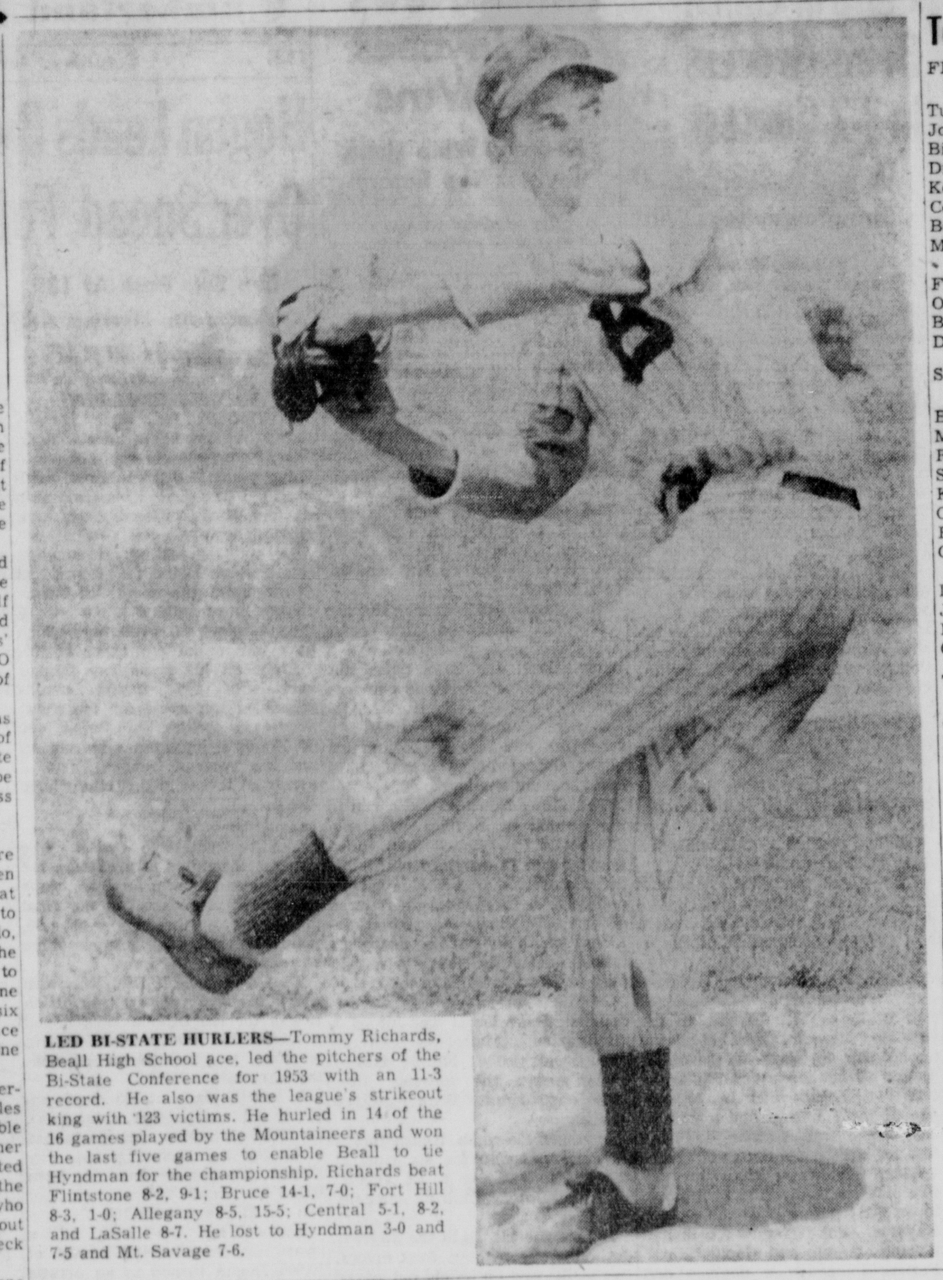

The Preem, who'll be 50 to 1 or more, has started 35 times and won only once. In his last start at Belmont June 1, six started and "Da Preem" finished sixth.

Bob O Boy, who was claimed from Mrs. E. D. Jacobs for $10,000 last winter, staggered home third behind Powhatan and Dictar yesterday in a mile and one sixteenth race here.

Bassanio's Daddy Won

Bassanio's daddy, Bimelech, won the 1940 Belmont, but his son has done little to rate him with the class horses.

Some 50,000 are expected, depending on the weather which may bring showers. The race will be carried on the CBS network, television and radio, 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

LED BI-STATE HURLERS—Tommy Richards, Beall High School ace, led the pitchers of the Bi-State Conference for 1953 with an 11-3 record. He also was the league's strikeout king with 123 victims. He hurled in 14 of the 16 games played by the Mountaineers and won the last five games to enable Beall to tie Hyndman for the championship. Richards beat Flintstone 8-2, 9-1; Bruce 14-1, 7-0; Fort Hill 8-3, 1-0; Allegany 8-5, 15-5; Central 5-1, 8-2, and LaSalle 8-7. He lost to Hyndman 3-0 and 7-5 and Mt. Savage 7-6.

Duke Tossers Win

OMAHA, June 12 (AP)—Duke eliminated Colorado State in the National Collegiate baseball tournament today by a 3-2 score as Joe Lewis turned in an excellent job of relief pitching.

Lewis, retired in the fifth inning in Duke's first round loss to Texas because of wildness, came back today with some sharp tossing to choke off an eighth inning Colorado threat.

Duke, now with a 1-1 record in the double elimination tournament, will play the winner of tonight's Michigan-Boston College game Saturday.

Easter To Return

CLEVELAND, June 12 (AP)—Luke Easter, injured first baseman for the Cleveland Indians, probably will go back on the active list when the Tribe opens its Eastern trip next Tuesday, Manager Al Lopez said today.

The Cleveland pilot said the big fellow would not be in uniform for the current Yankee series, but definitely would make the road trip.

Easter has been out since April 18 with a broken foot bone.

Redlegs Trade Church To Cubs

Cincinnati Obtains Kelly And Baczewski

CINCINNATI, June 12 (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs today swapped pitcher Bubba Church to the Chicago Cubs for right-hander Bob Kelly and rookie southpaw Fred Baczewski in a straight player trade.

The sixth-place Redlegs, solid in most all other departments, have been seeking desperately to bolster their pitcher staff since before the season began. The Cubs, now in last place, also have had pitcher trouble.

Cincinnati obtained Church, a 27-year-old right-hander, in a trade that sent outfielder Johnny Wyrostek to the Philadelphia Phillies on May 23, 1952. Church had a 5-9 record with the Redlegs last season. He had compiled a 3-3 slate thus far this year.

GREEN BAY, Wis., June 12 (AP) —Fred Cone, Green Bay Packer fullback and place-kicker who said at the end of last season that he was through with professional football, signed his 1953 contract today with the National Football League team.

Eight Colts Are Nominated For 85th Belmont Stakes Today

Native Dancer Favored To Win At Odds Of 1-4

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP) — The names of eight colts, three of them long shot surprises, went into the entry box for the 85th running of the Belmont Stakes tomorrow, but it still appears a two or three horse race with Native Dancer the one to beat.

Whereas Belmont officials had been expecting only four or five starters for the mile and one half three-year-old classic, they found themselves with Ogden Phipps' Bassanio, A. J. Fralinger's Bob O Boy, and The Preem, property of Bandleader Louis Prima.

If all eight go, and it seems entirely possible one or more of the surprises might be late scratches, this Belmont would be the richest ever since Ruthless copped the inaugural in 1867.

Winner May Get $84,500

And, if all eight owners desire to see their colors tomorrow when they spring the starting gates at 3:45 p.m., (EST). They'll have to dig up $1,000 apiece. If they do, the pot will total $120,600 with the winner netting $84,500 compared to the record $82,400 collected by One Count last year. Even with six starters, tomorrow's big race would be worth $100 more than One Count's.

Native Dancer, Alfred Vanderbilt's colorful grey galloper, rules the odds-on favorite at probable odds of 1 to 4. The Dancer, winner of 13 of his 14 starts, is expected to get his main opposition from the Spring Hill Farm's Jamie K., who made Vanderbilt's ace go all out to win the Preakness by a neck three weeks ago.

Many seem to think Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem can mix it up with the top two, and possibly get away with the swag in one of the most talked off Belmonts in its long history.

The other two who had been expected all along, until the trio of interlopers intruded, are Bruce S. Campbell's Ram O'War and the King Ranch's Kamehameha.

A Two-Horse Duel

To most observers, however, the race seems to be a duel between Jockey Eric Guerin aboard Native Dancer and Eddie Arcaro, who hopes to nab his sixth Belmont with Jamie K.

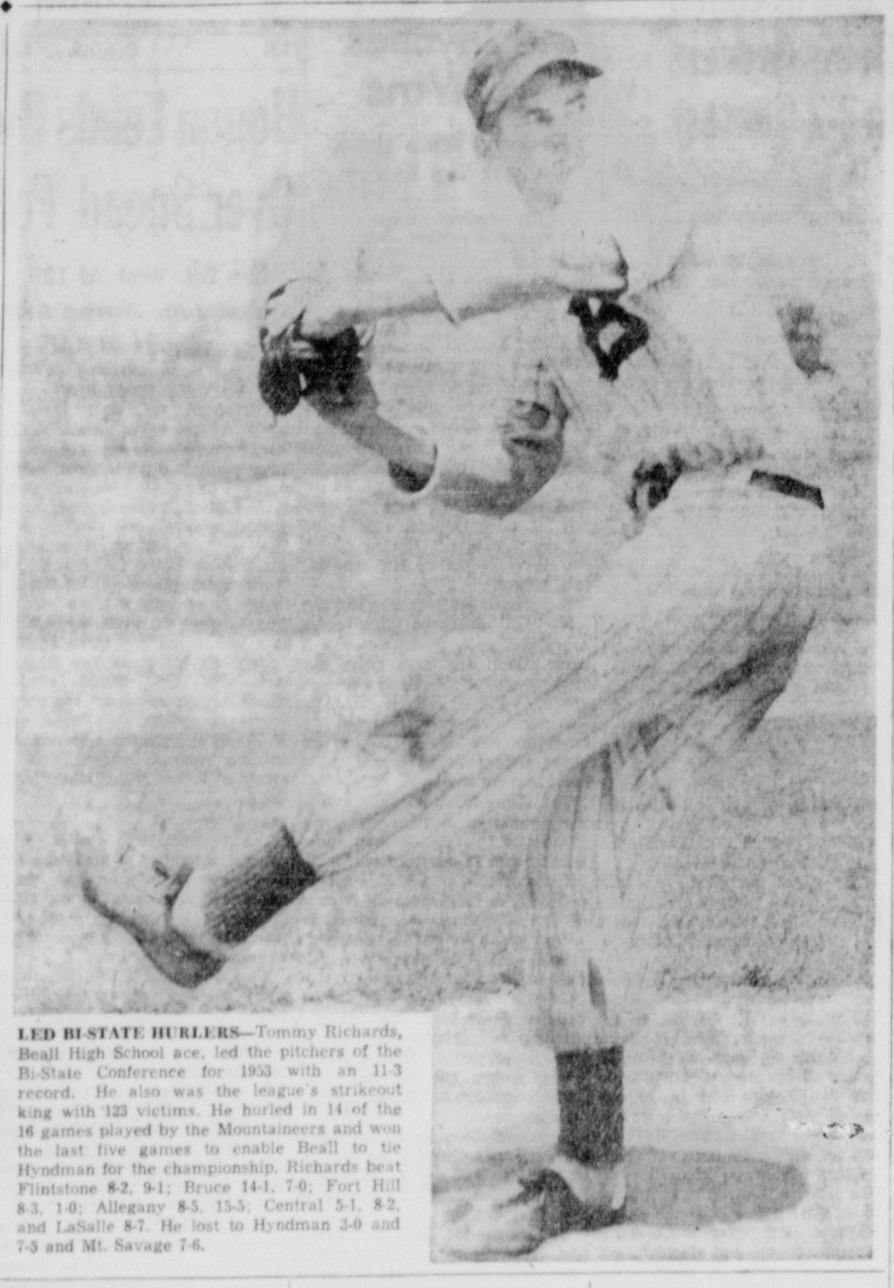

The Preem, who'll be 50 to 1 or more, has started 35 times and won only once. In his last start at Belmont June 1, six started and "Da Preem" finished sixth.

Bob O Boy, who was claimed from Mrs. E. D. Jacobs for $10,000 last winter, staggered home third behind Powhatan and Dictar yesterday in a mile and one sixteenth race here.

Bassanio's Daddy Won

Bassanio's daddy, Bimelech, won the 1940 Belmont, but his son has done little to rate him with the class horses.

Some 50,000 are expected, depending on the weather which may bring showers. The race will be carried on the CBS network, television and radio, 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

LED BI-STATE HURLERS—Tommy Richards, Beall High School ace, led the pitchers of the Bi-State Conference for 1953 with an 11-3 record. He also was the league's strikeout king with 123 victims. He hurled in 14 of the 16 games played by the Mountaineers and won the last five games to enable Beall to tie Hyndman for the championship. Richards beat Flintstone 8-2, 9-1; Bruce 14-1, 7-0; Fort Hill 8-3, 1-0; Allegany 8-5, 15-5; Central 5-1, 8-2, and LaSalle 8-7. He lost to Hyndman 3-0 and 7-5 and Mt. Savage 7-6.

Duke Tossers Win

OMAHA, June 12 (AP)—Duke eliminated Colorado State in the National Collegiate baseball tournament today by a 3-2 score as Joe Lewis turned in an excellent job of relief pitching.

Lewis, retired in the fifth inning in Duke's first round loss to Texas because of wildness, came back today with some sharp tossing to choke off an eighth inning Colorado threat.

Duke, now with a 1-1 record in the double elimination tournament, will play the winner of tonight's Michigan-Boston College game Saturday.

Easter To Return

CLEVELAND, June 12 (AP)—Luke Easter, injured first baseman for the Cleveland Indians, probably will go back on the active list when the Tribe opens its Eastern trip next Tuesday, Manager Al Lopez said today.

The Cleveland pilot said the big fellow would not be in uniform for the current Yankee series, but definitely would make the road trip.

Easter has been out since April 18 with a broken foot bone.

Redlegs Trade Church To Cubs

Cincinnati Obtains Kelly And Baczewski

CINCINNATI, June 12 (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs today swapped pitcher Bubba Church to the Chicago Cubs for right-hander Bob Kelly and rookie southpaw Fred Baczewski in a straight player trade.

The sixth-place Redlegs, solid in most all other departments, have been seeking desperately to bolster their pitcher staff since before the season began. The Cubs, now in last place, also have had pitcher trouble.

Cincinnati obtained Church, a 27-year-old right-hander, in a trade that sent outfielder Johnny Wyrostek to the Philadelphia Phillies on May 23, 1952. Church had a 5-9 record with the Redlegs last season. He had compiled a 3-3 slate thus far this year.

The objective of the auxiliary is to furnish a nursery in the new wing of the hospital, and the money collected from these activities will go toward that project.

Mrs. Gladys Warnick, chairman of mending and sewing group, reports that her group has mended and repaired the following articles:

Sixty-nine sheets, 45 spreads, 25 pillow cases, 33 gowns, two operating pants. They have made 59 towels, 21 pairs of socks for children, 12 strip type dressing and four binders.

Mrs. Grant Durst, card party group chairman, reports six group parties, with the money received from this group going toward the furnishing in the new nursery.

Miss Elizabeth Workman, Mrs. William S. Jenkins, Mrs. James Taylor, Miss Evelyn Lloyd, and Mrs. William Walsh have made tray favors twice monthly for all patients at Miners Hospital.

The Grantsville 4-H Group has made scrap books for the children's ward. These were presented by their leader, Miss Workman.

Following the business meeting and appointment of committees by Mrs. Darrell Zeller, a program, under direction of Mrs. Richard Goldsworthy will be presented, which includes vocal selections, Mrs. Giles Maurey and Mr. Joseph Passarelli, tap dances, by Miss Mary Jo Malamphy, and Miss Jane Phillips.

Miners Hospital Auxiliary Will Install Officers

Drive Is Underway For Nursery Project

FROSTBURG — The annual installation of officers of the Miners Hospital Auxiliary will be held Monday evening, June 22, at 8 o'clock in the American Legion Home with Miss Elizabeth Workman, in charge of the installation.

The new officers are Mrs. Darrell Zeller, president; Mrs. Vincent Bollino, vice president; Mrs. Karl Nickel, recording secretary; Mrs. Alvin Kreiling, corresponding secretary; Mrs. George Kennedy, treasurer, and Mrs. Reford Aldridge, parliamentarian.

The auxiliary has a membership of 232 and the goal for the coming year is to double that number. Membership is open to women of Frostburg and vicinity, Mt. Savage, and the Georges Creek region.

Under the direction of Mrs. George Kennedy, of the Ways and Means committee, two card parties, hat sale, white elephant sale, and a silver tea were held. The objective of the auxiliary is to furnish a nursery in the new wing of the hospital, and the money collected from these activities will go toward that project.

Mrs. Gladys Warnick, chairman of mending and sewing group, reports that her group has mended and repaired the following articles:

Sixty-nine sheets, 45 spreads, 25 pillow cases, 33 gowns, two operating pants. They have made 59 towels, 21 pairs of socks for children, 12 strip type dressing and four binders.

Mrs. Grant Durst, card party group chairman, reports six group parties, with the money received from this group going toward the furnishing in the new nursery.

Miss Elizabeth Workman, Mrs. William S. Jenkins, Mrs. James Taylor, Miss Evelyn Lloyd, and Mrs. William Walsh have made tray favors twice monthly for all patients at Miners Hospital.

The Grantsville 4-H Group has made scrap books for the children's ward. These were presented by their leader, Miss Workman.

Following the business meeting and appointment of committees by Mrs. Darrell Zeller, a program, under direction of Mrs. Richard Goldsworthy will be presented, which includes vocal selections, Mrs. Giles Maurey and Mr. Joseph Passarelli, tap dances, by Miss Mary Jo Malamphy, and Miss Jane Phillips.

Refreshment hour under supervision of Mrs. Woodrow Layman and receptions of newly elected installed officers.

Down in the Valley...

In a few short hours the bang-tails will be chasin' each other round the oval again ... bent upon dislocating you from next week's lunch money. 'Course, you could be lucky — the only thing standing between you and Fort Knox (or Flat-Busted Hollow) is the unpredictable whim of a few hundred four-footed characters who get their oats no matter what happens. But—win, lose or draw—it's fun and all in good spirits. Speaking of good spirits (knew we'd get down to this somehow) you'll find plenty Down In the Valley for after (and before) the races relaxation. We'll whip up the best in food and drink in no time flat and here's a sure-fire tip, you'll find none better anywhere! Brother, if you're nagged in any respect ... head for the Valley! It's calm!!!

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 12—(INS)—After all her unhappiness at the time of her divorce from Niven Busch, Teresa Wright is suddenly the most glowing girl in Hollywood.

It's all due to the deal she's just signed to make "Monsieur Repose" with famed French actor Gerard Phillippe in London with all these exciting "extras" thrown in:

Glamorous gowns designed by Balmain; the biggest salary she's ever earned and all expenses paid; Oscar winning Rene Clement to direct; and—it's Teresa's first trip to Europe!

Jan Sterling cut short her European vacation with Paul Douglas to fly back to Paramount for "Alaska Seas" with Van Heflin, Robert Ryan and Brian Keith. All three heroes fall in love with Jan in the movie about salmon fishing.

"Everybody falls in love with me but the fish," laughs Jan.

She says she and Paul had the time of their lives in Europe. "Talk about women shopping—you should have seen Douglas. You couldn't get him out of the men's shops in London. But he didn't go crazy until he got to Scotland and discovered a Douglas tartan weave. He even ordered KILTS and it burned him up that they look a lot better on me than on him!"

I'd like to give a little plug to the Junior Journal, the only newspaper published by children for children. It's a very creditable job done by the young people, whose ages range from 8 to 14.

The publisher and editor in chief is Margo Dayan, the only adult on the staff, who helps the children. The editors are Bill Elliot and Barbara Ussery.

The paper covers everything—motion pictures, sports, TV and world events. I was particularly interested in an interview with a returned prisoner of war, and it was mighty well written, let me say.

I finally visited Las Vegas and was fortunate enough to be there on Robert Merrill's opening night. You'd think an operatic star might not go over in a night club, but so enthusiastic were those who listened that calls of "Bravo! Bravo! Please come back! More! More!" were heard.

On the same program with Bob, sharing star honors, was Louis Armstrong and the greatest jazz band, with Cozy Cole at the drums and a hot pianist, Marty Napoleon, and Velma Middleton, a tiny singer of some 400 pounds.

It's smart showmanship on the part of Jack Entratter to offer this widely varied program. I sat through two shows — that's how

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 12—(INS)—After all her unhappiness at the time of her divorce from Niven Busch, Teresa Wright is suddenly the most glowing girl in Hollywood.

It's all due to the deal she's just signed to make "Monsieur Repose" with famed French actor Gerard Phillippe in London with all these exciting "extras" thrown in:

Glamorous gowns designed by Balmain; the biggest salary she's ever earned and all expenses paid; Oscar winning Rene Clement to direct; and—it's Teresa's first trip to Europe!

Jan Sterling cut short her European vacation with Paul Douglas to fly back to Paramount for "Alaska Seas" with Van Heflin, Robert Ryan and Brian Keith. All three heroes fall in love with Jan in the movie about salmon fishing.

"Everybody falls in love with me but the fish," laughs Jan.

She says she and Paul had the time of their lives in Europe. "Talk about women shopping—you should have seen Douglas. You couldn't get him out of the men's shops in London. But he didn't go crazy until he got to Scotland and discovered a Douglas tartan weave. He even ordered KILTS and it burned him up that they look a lot better on me than on him!"

I'd like to give a little plug to the Junior Journal, the only newspaper published by children for children. It's a very creditable job done by the young people, whose ages range from 8 to 14.

The publisher and editor in chief is Margo Dayan, the only adult on the staff, who helps the children. The editors are Bill Elliot and Barbara Ussery.

The paper covers everything—motion pictures, sports, TV and world events. I was particularly interested in an interview with a returned prisoner of war, and it was mighty well written, let me say.

I finally visited Las Vegas and was fortunate enough to be there on Robert Merrill's opening night. You'd think an operatic star might not go over in a night club, but so enthusiastic were those who listened that calls of "Bravo! Bravo! Please come back! More! More!" were heard.

On the same program with Bob, sharing star honors, was Louis Armstrong and the greatest jazz band, with Cozy Cole at the drums and a hot pianist, Marty Napoleon, and Velma Middleton, a tiny singer of some 400 pounds.

It's smart showmanship on the part of Jack Entratter to offer this widely varied program. I sat through two shows — that's how

by John Crosby

Opposite Lucy

The chief distinction enjoyed by "Eye Witness," a fairly new show (Fairly new may be defined as anything that has been on the air less than Milton Berle) on NBC-TV at 9 p. m. EDT Monday, is the fact that it is arrayed against "I Love Lucy." That gives it high marks for courage, if for nothing else.

John Crosby

NBC showed a glimmer of intelligence putting it there. Time was when NBC used to try to compete with "Lucy" by throwing up against it another situation comedy patterned as closely after "Lucy" as the law allowed. As one cynical NBC man put it, "The only people who looked at it were those who were too weak or too crippled to cross the room to switch to CBS."

So, NBC, in a surprising burst of initiative, threw in "Eye Witness" which they described as "off beat" mystery. "Off beat" is one of those phrases—almost a word now—which covers a lot of sins. The first "off beat" mystery was about a brain doctor who used human subjects in German concentration camps for his experiments in schizophrenia.

Another one was about a bus driver whose bus had got into an accident killing some school children. The townsfolk wanted to lynch him and almost succeeded. Still another was about an eye witness at a murder, who is accused of the killing, and who, it develops, is guilty. He goes mad at the end. Then there was another one, the best of the lot, in which a married couple—one an aging tennis player, the other an aging actress—come into possession of an elixir of permanent youth. There is just enough elixir for one of them, not both, and naturally the pair start eyeing one another with something less than amiability. (That was a John Collier story and a very good one).

Anyhow, that's what "off beat" means—not just ordinary skullduggery but extraordinary skullduggery. And "Eye Witness," just to stir things up a bit, employs all the tricky methods of presentation it can use. That one about the eye witness at a murder, for example, used that old trick in which the camera acts the part of the accused. Robert Montgomery first used it in a movie called "The Lake" and a whole television series used the same device.

This one about the bus driver started off with a narrator (Garry Merrill) explaining that the forthcoming drama was top secret. Special precautions had been taken to keep people away from rehearsals for fear, I guess, of injury to the actors because this mob violence affair had been taken from real life. In short, you have never seen or heard so much malarkey in your life. And in spite of all this elaborate trickery, Neptune productions which produces it has not managed to conceal the fact that "Eye Witness" is a pretty bad show.

That's the trouble with the mystery field right now. It's so horribly crowded that everyone tries to be a little more offbeat than the next guy. Most of the mystery shows are getting so off beat that they're all getting slightly ludicrous. The field is wide open for another Dashiell Hammett whose killers were motivated by simple avarice or lust or a combination of both.

To pass from the ridiculous to the sublime, let's take up Billy Graham, the noted evangelist. The other night, Mr. Graham's producer—trying, I guess, to insert a little production in the show—put a bride and groom in front of Mr. Graham who was supposed to marry them. Instead of getting into the marriage ceremony, Mr. Graham plunged into a lecture.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

CABLE TV NEWS

Approximately, by July 1 we expect to have a voice transmitter that will be used on any of our present channels.

Then we can make emergency announcements at anytime. We also plan on using local commercial announcements and as stated before, they will help bring monthly rental costs down. Later, we plan on having a slide projector and eventually complete moving picture equipment. Our facilities will be used in the Civil Defense Program. Watch for later announcements.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

T' F F ALLO ORL ZIETSE UK ORL DWTLD, YHO SUO IS ISEZC KIORLZ —NIAGYLFF.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: OH! HOW MANY TORMENTS BE IN THE SMALL CIRCLE OF A WEDDING RING—CIBBER.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, Isaac T. Huff. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and Rev. Moore, who preached the sermon.

Wife, Mrs. Eliza Huff
Daughter, Mrs. Glenna Shaffer

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved son, James I. Winebrenner. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

Mr. & Mrs. James H. Winebrenner.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Son and Brother, Clifton M. Smith, who passed away June 12, 1944.

Forget you, no, we never will;
We loved you then, we love you still;
Your memory is as fresh today
As in the hour you passed away.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why certain things must be,
But there's a reason for it all
Beyond our power to see.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Sisters & Brother.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, Isaac T. Huff. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and Rev. Moore, who preached the sermon.
Wife, Mrs. Eliza Huff
Daughter, Mrs. Glenna Shaffer

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved son, James I. Winebrenner. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
Mr. & Mrs. James H. Winebrenner.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Son and Brother, Clifton M. Smith, who passed away June 12, 1944.
Forget you, no, we never will;
We loved you then, we love you still;
Your memory is as fresh today
As in the hour you passed away.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why certain things must be,
But there's a reason for it all
Beyond our power to see.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Sisters & Brother.

Strength In Oils, Steels Helps Lift Market Higher

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP) — Strength in the oil shares and fractional advances in other sections of the list lifted the stock market a bit higher today. A notable exception was the railroad group, where most stocks closed lower.

Aside from the oils, groups in which plus signs predominated were steels, rubbers, mail orders, retail stores, televisions, utilities, coppers and electrical equipments. Motors and chemicals were mixed at the close. Airlines, aircrafts and motion pictures joined the rails on the down-side.

Volume totaled only 920,000 shares, compared with 1,220,000 for yesterday's rallying market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up 10 cents at $105.50.

Better advances today were made by Ohio Oil, up 1¼ at 52; Cities Service, ahead 1⅜ at 81⅝; Richfield, up 1 at 54½; Texas Company, up 1 at 53¼; Westinghouse, up ⅞ at 43⅝; Motorola, up ¾ at 32⅞, and Goodyear, ahead ¾ at 48⅞.

Other advancing stocks included American Telephone, General Motors, Zenith, Phelps Dodge, Du-Pont, General Electric, Argo Oil, Pacific Gas & Electric, Federated Department Stores, U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, U. S. Rubber and American Cyanamid.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Douglas, United Aircraft, Radio Corp., Consolidated Edison, Dome, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Can, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Loew's, Seaboard Air Line Railroad and Panhandle Pipe Line.

BARBARA ELLA HAYWOOD

Barbara E. Haywood Joins Beauty Contest Entrants

A graduate of Bruce High School in 1952, Miss Barbara Ella Haywood, became the sixth contestant to enter the Miss Western Maryland pageant being sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce this year.

Miss Haywood joins five other beauties to vie for top honors and the coveted chance to participate in the state finals this summer. The Miss Western Maryland pageant will be held in the Maryland Theatre Thursday, June 18, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Barbara, 18 years old, resides in McCoole and majored in an academic course while attending Bruce High in Westernport. She also appeared in the 1952 Senior Class play.

She is five-feet-three and has brown hair and blue eyes. Her hobbies are dancing, swimming and drawing.

This is Barbara's first fling at the Western Maryland beauty title and the brunette miss will sing in the talent portion of the show.

Other contestants seeking the first step to a potential Miss America appearance at Atlantic City this fall are Miss Shirley Grant, Westernport; Miss Winifred Louise La Rue, Pinto; Miss Sarah Jeanne Kenner, Westernport; Miss Carol Thompson, Lonaconing, and Miss Elma Gail Jones, Midland.

Thursday's winner will go to the state finals which also will be held in Cumberland this summer. The state winner becomes a participant in the Atlantic City pageant in the fall.

Area Man Gets 30-Day Term In Theft Case

A 31-year-old area man was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County Jail yesterday on charges of stealing about 300 steel tie plates from the Western Maryland Railway May 1.

James E. Weicht, of Mill Run, pleaded guilty to the state charge. The defendant's father, Harry Weicht, about 55, of McCoole, arrested in connection with the case, was released without a hearing. He testified at his son's trial before Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya, testifying for the state, said James Weicht had been arrested before on charges of larceny, and read an FBI record stating that the defendant had been sentenced to four years in the Maryland State Reformatory in 1949 after being convicted of manslaughter.

Weicht told the court he sold over 100 tie plates to a West Virginia junk dealer for $75. The plates were taken along the right of way of the Western Maryland at Black Oak, halfway between Rawlings and McCoole.

Charles V. Barncord, of the Western Maryland Railway police agency, who investigated with Trooper Milton G. Hart, of the State Police, said the plates weighed about 18 pounds and were worth about 33 cents each. Value of the plates stolen was set at $99.

Two 16-year-old Rawlings youths, arrested in another case involving the theft of tie plates from the railway, were given hearings in Allegany County Juvenile Court.

The two boys' sentences were withheld by Magistrate Alban C. Thompson. The pair made restitution for the theft.

Mt. Radio Club Reorganizes

The Mountain Radio Club held a reorganization meeting in Union Street County Building last night and made plans including participation in a field day slated on June 20 throughout the United States.

Walter R. Gettrell was named acting president and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., acting secretary. Permanent officers will be elected in about 60 days.

The activities committee, including Byron H. Kiser, Kenneth G. Lease and Roy A. Smelser, will complete plans for the local club's part in the field day, which will be held for a 24-hour period beginning at 5 p. m. (EDT) atop Haystack Mountain off Braddock Road.

All amateur radio operators and other persons interested in radio communication are invited to attend. The public is invited to view the various Civil Defense equipment which will be on display.

The club will have six receivers and 12 transmitters in operation, including the county CD equipment.

Truck Driver Injured When Vehicle Skids

Glen Goff, 24, of 109 South Lee Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon after the Coca Cola truck he was driving apparently skidded and crashed into an embankment on Route 220 near Nave's Crossroads.

State Police Trooper C. H. DeWitt, who investigated the mishap, said Goff apparently was driving the 1½-ton truck loaded with cases of bottles toward Cumberland along the Bedford Road when he rounded a curve, skidded suddenly across the highway, hit a roadside mail box, then crashed into an embankment and overturned into a ditch.

The accident occurred about 3:45 p. m. yesterday afternoon as Goff was returning to Cumberland after making deliveries.

DeWitt, who said he had been unable to question Goff, believed the truck driver struck a slippery spot in the highway, made wet by a recent shower, and lost control of the vehicle.

The truck careened down the highway before crashing, DeWitt said, and broken bottles were scattered over the scene of the mishap.

Goff was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital by ambulance. Attaches said last night the driver complained of a leg injury and added X-rays would be taken today to determine the extent of injuries.

DeWitt stated the accident, which occurred approximately half-mile north of the Cumberland city limits, demolished the truck. Estimates of the damage were placed at more than $1,500, police said.

No charges were placed against the injured man, who was alone at the time of the accident, pending further investigation.

First Crash Damage Suit To Be Tried

20 Other Cases Docketed Later

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury has been summoned to appear at the Court House at 9:15 a. m. Monday to hear the first of 21 civil suits totaling $260,000 growing out of the county's worst traffic accident in history.

Joretta Proudfoot of Rowlesburg, W. Va., through Attorneys William L. Wilson and Edward J. Ryan, seeks $20,000 damages for injuries she sustained last August 31 along McMullen Highway near Pinto, when another automobile collided with the parked car in which she was a passenger.

Five Tri-Towns young men were killed in the other car.

Miss Proudfoot filed suit against Elizabeth A. Gilmore, administratrix of the estate of Timothy M. Gilmore, and James Moran, administrator of the estate of Richard Moran. Gilmore was driving the ill-fated car which belonged to Moran. They were two of the five victims.

Subsequently, the court granted a motion adding Lewis Howard Allwine and Lewis Thomas Allwine, Highland Park, N. J., as third parties defendant in the case. Miss Proudfoot was riding in a car owned by Lewis Thomas Allwine and which had been driven by Lewis Howard Allwine, his son. The son married Miss Proudfoot January 24 in Upshur County, W. Va.

Two days have been set aside for this trial which will be presided over by Associate Judge George Henderson.

The other 20 cases, seeking a total of $240,000 in damages, have been docketed for trial June 23, 24, and 25. Judge Henderson has suggested to interested lawyers that these cases be consolidated to speed their trial.

$840,000 Reported Paid Thus Far In County Taxes

Nearly $840,000 in county and state real estate taxes has been collected so far this month by Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat and his three assistants at the Court House, he reported yesterday.

Treat expects that about 88 per cent of the $2,000,000 he will collect this year will come in during the month of June. The chief reason is that taxpayers are allowed a five per cent discount if they pay in June. In July the percentage of discount drops to four and in August it is three per cent.

Some 20,000 tax bills were sent out late in May from Treat's office. Other bills were mailed out from District 2 in Frostburg and District 3 at Lonaconing. Treat asks that all persons who have not yet received bills notify him so that the bills can be traced.

Legion Meets Tomorrow

Members of Mountain District, Maryland Department of American Legion, will meet tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the home of James P. Love Post in Lonaconing, Edward Nolan, district vice commander, will preside.

Five Teen-Age Youths Admit Robbing Man

Will Be Tried In Juvenile Court Today

Five teen-age youths, who authorities say admitted robbing an elderly man near Corriganville this week, were arrested by State Police yesterday and will be tried today in Juvenile Court.

Trooper First Class William F. Baker said last night the five boys, four from Corriganville and one from North Cumberland, said they took approximately $42 from the billfold of Isaac Johnson late Tuesday night as the elderly man walked toward his home near Corriganville along the old quarry road.

REV. GEORGE L. WEHLER

Suddenly Accosted

Johnson, about 70, told police several boys had suddenly accosted him as he was on his way to his home from Corriganville Fire Hall at about midnight. He stated the boys came up behind him as he walked along the road north of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks near the old stone quarry. Johnson lives close to the quarry about two miles from Corriganville.

Baker stated Johnson told him he was suddenly grabbed from behind and thrown to the ground. The culprits then took his billfold from his hip pocket and fled into the darkness after knocking out a lantern which Johnson was carrying with him to light his way.

The section in which Johnson lives is sparsely populated, Baker related, and the victim had to return to the fire hall to report the theft. He said the thieves were afoot but he was unable to describe them.

The five boys, when questioned yesterday by State Police, admitted complicity in the robbery, Baker said, and stated they divided equally the money taken from Johnson's wallet after fleeing the scene. They said they got about $42 in all. Police said Johnson claimed he had $98 in his wallet at the time.

Divided The Money

In recounting the crime, the five boys, ranging in age from 14 to 16, said one struck the lantern from Johnson's hand, another grabbed him around the waist and throat, throwing him to the ground and a third took his wallet as the others stood by to aid if necessary. They had followed him from the Fire Hall, they said.

Johnson was shaken up by the experience but not badly hurt, police continued.

After running from the scene the boys stopped, divided the money and then threw the billfold into Wills Creek. Baker said some of the money was recovered.

The five boys will be tried in Juvenile Court this morning at 9 o'clock. They have been released in custody of their parents pending trial. They have no previous records, Baker noted.

Trooper C. H. DeWitt assisted Baker in the investigation and in making the arrests yesterday.

Area Resident Sought After Wife's Death

Mrs. Schaulis Dies Of Gunshot Wound

A former Pennsylvania man, the father of five sons, is being sought by local and state authorities after his wife was found shot to death yesterday at their home near Glen Burnie.

He was identified as Francis Schaulis Jr., whose father lives in Listie, Pa., about four miles from Somerset.

Schaulis and the children were last heard from yesterday morning when they visited the home in Listie. Police said they left after the younger Schaulis told of his wife's death.

Mystery Surrounds Death

Authorities could not determine immediately whether she was slain or took her own life.

Dr. Gustave H. Faubert, Anne Arundel County medical examiner, said a magazine on her chest was opened to an article entitled "Unfit Mother."

He said no gun was found but that there was a .32 caliber cartridge shell on the floor along with an unfired .32 caliber bullet.

Maryland State Police went to the locked home and forced their way in after receiving a report from Pennsylvania State Police.

The Pennsylvania Police said her husband, Francis Shaulis Jr., showed up yesterday at his father's home in Listie, a small Somerset County community. The father, Francis Sr., said his son had all five children with him and told him that his wife had shot herself.

Left Immediately

He said the son was very upset and left right away. He believed they were returning to Maryland but expressed fear for the safety of the son and children.

The elder Schaulis called the Somerset barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police and told them about the visit. They messaged Maryland officers who went to the home about 4:30 p.m.

Dr. Faubert said Mrs. Shaulis apparently died sometime during the night. He said in view of the unusual circumstances of the case he was withholding a verdict. The body was sent to the Baltimore city morgue for further examination.

Area Man Gets 30-Day Term In Theft Case

A 31-year-old area man was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County Jail yesterday on charges of stealing about 300 steel tie plates from the Western Maryland Railway May 1.

James E. Weicht, of Mill Run, pleaded guilty to the state charge. The defendant's father, Harry Weicht, about 55, of McCoole, arrested in connection with the case, was released without a hearing. He testified at his son's trial before Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya, testifying for the state, said James Weicht had been arrested before on charges of larceny, and read an FBI record stating that the defendant had been sentenced to four years in the Maryland State Reformatory in 1949 after being convicted of manslaughter.

Weicht told the court he sold over 100 tie plates to a West Virginia junk dealer for $75. The plates were taken along the right of way of the Western Maryland at Black Oak, halfway between Rawlings and McCoole.

Charles V. Barncord, of the Western Maryland Railway police agency, who investigated with Trooper Milton G. Hart, of the State Police, said the plates weighed about 18 pounds and were worth about 33 cents each. Value of the plates stolen was set at $99.

Two 16-year-old Rawlings youths, arrested in another case involving the theft of tie plates from the railway, were given hearings in Allegany County Juvenile Court.

The two boys' sentences were withheld by Magistrate Alban C. Thompson. The pair made restitution for the theft.

$840,000 Reported Paid Thus Far In County Taxes

Nearly $840,000 in county and state real estate taxes has been collected so far this month by Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat and his three assistants at the Court House, he reported yesterday.

Treat expects that about 88 per cent of the $2,000,000 he will collect this year will come in during the month of June. The chief reason is that taxpayers are allowed a five per cent discount if they pay in June. In July the percentage of discount drops to four and in August it is three per cent.

Some 20,000 tax bills were sent out late in May from Treat's office. Other bills were mailed out from District 2 in Frostburg and District 3 at Lonaconing. Treat asks that all persons who have not yet received bills notify him so that the bills can be traced.

Suddenly Accosted

Johnson, about 70, told police several boys had suddenly accosted him as he was on his way to his home from Corriganville Fire Hall at about midnight. He stated the boys came up behind him as he walked along the road north of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks near the old stone quarry. Johnson lives close to the quarry about two miles from Corriganville.

Baker stated Johnson told him he was suddenly grabbed from behind and thrown to the ground. The culprits then took his billfold from his hip pocket and fled into the darkness after knocking out a lantern which Johnson was carrying with him to light his way.

The section in which Johnson lives is sparsely populated, Baker related, and the victim had to return to the fire hall to report the theft. He said the thieves were afoot but he was unable to describe them.

The five boys, when questioned yesterday by State Police, admitted complicity in the robbery, Baker said, and stated they divided equally the money taken from Johnson's wallet after fleeing the scene. They said they got about $42 in all. Police said Johnson claimed he had $98 in his wallet at the time.

Divided The Money

In recounting the crime, the five boys, ranging in age from 14 to 16, said one struck the lantern from Johnson's hand, another grabbed him around the waist and throat, throwing him to the ground and a third took his wallet as the others stood by to aid if necessary. They had followed him from the Fire Hall, they said.

Johnson was shaken up by the experience but not badly hurt, police continued.

After running from the scene the boys stopped, divided the money and then threw the billfold into Wills Creek. Baker said some of the money was recovered.

The five boys will be tried in Juvenile Court this morning at 9 o'clock. They have been released in custody of their parents pending trial. They have no previous records, Baker noted.

Trooper C. H. DeWitt assisted Baker in the investigation and in making the arrests yesterday.

Area Resident Sought After Wife's Death

Mrs. Schaulis Dies Of Gunshot Wound

A former Pennsylvania man, the father of five sons, is being sought by local and state authorities after his wife was found shot to death yesterday at their home near Glen Burnie.

He was identified as Francis Schaulis Jr., whose father lives in Listie, Pa., about four miles from Somerset.

Schaulis and the children were last heard from yesterday morning when they visited the home in Listie. Police said they left after the younger Schaulis told of his wife's death.

Mystery Surrounds Death

The victim, Mrs. May Ann Shaulis, was found stretched out on a living room sofa, clad in her night gown and a pink bathrobe, and with a bullet wound through the chest.

Authorities could not determine immediately whether she was slain or took her own life.

Dr. Gustave H. Faubert, Anne Arundel County medical examiner, said a magazine on her chest was opened to an article entitled "Unfit Mother."

He said no gun was found but that there was a .32 caliber cartridge shell on the floor along with an unfired .32 caliber bullet.

Maryland State Police went to the locked home and forced their way in after receiving a report from Pennsylvania State Police.

The Pennsylvania Police said her husband, Francis Shaulis Jr., showed up yesterday at his father's home in Listie, a small Somerset County community. The father, Francis Sr., said his son had all five children with him and told him that his wife had shot herself.

He said the son was very upset and left right away. He believed they were returning to Maryland but expressed fear for the safety of the son and children.

The elder Schaulis called the Somerset barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police and told them about the visit. They messaged Maryland officers who went to the home about 4:30 p.m.

Dr. Faubert said Mrs. Shaulis apparently died sometime during the night. He said in view of the unusual circumstances of the case he was withholding a verdict. The body was sent to the Baltimore city morgue for further examination.
